School's Loss High In Blaze

Fire and water did more than an estimated $125,000 damages to the Knob Noster Junior High School Thursday night. The building is the old senior high school and located three blocks southeast of the center of town.

The fire was discovered about 7:30 p.m. and an alarm given to the Knob Noster fire department. When firemen first arrived on the scene, flames had gained considerable headway and assistance was sought from the Whiteman AFB fire department, Warrensburg, and the Pettis County Fire Department, all which responded to the call.

Attack the Fire
Fire Chief A. D. "True" Jarolim, of the Knob Noster department, and Chief Darroll F. Saul, Sr., of the Whiteman department directed the firemen. Between 15 and 18 men from the base, including several off-duty men assisted and joined firemen from other departments to fight the stubborn flames which were brought under control shortly before 11 p.m.

The Pettis County Fire Department received the initial call from the Sedalia Police Department. Presiding Judge Henry Lamm of the County Court gave permission for the department to answer the call, which was in Johnson County, after the fire department at Hughesville agreed to stand by.

The county fire crew returned to their station at 3:55 a.m. Friday.

An investigation will be made to determine where the fire originated. It was believed it may have started in the boiler room while another source reported it appeared to have started in a janitor's closet. Early arrivals of the Knob Noster department first attacked the fire in an area near the closet, and for a time thought it under control. But flames had entered an area around some air ducts and burned their way on up between the walls and into the attic where they spread.

The Knob Noster water source was not enough to cope with the various fire trucks, and Chief Saul called for additional water to be sent in large tanks holding approximately 4,000 gallons. The fire was centered in the central part of the building. Burning upward into the attic, it spread out, and before the flames were under control a large portion of the roof was burned out, and the third floor classrooms were gutted. One line of hose was hoisted up from the roof of the gymnasium and a fireman reached the top of the main building and poured water in through the gaping hole, confining the flames of the roof to one area.

The gymnasium building was not damaged by fire but reportedly had some smoke damage. The new annex in front of the old building and to the west was damaged only when volunteers broke out windows to get fixtures out. One room which contained expensive equipment had windows broken out, and some of the equipment

Mass Deaths of Sheep Prompt Call for Data

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Sen. Frank E. Moss has asked the Army for a full report on tests conducted at western Utah's top-secret Dugway proving grounds on the day before 6,000 sheep began dying on adjacent rangeland.

"What we rather suspect is they're using some exotic, even unnamed agents in the area and this has caused the death of the animals," the Utah Democrat said today in New Orleans. "If this is so, we ought to know about it so there won't be any as to eliminate further injury to the animals," he added.

The Army chemical and biological test area is located about 50 miles southwest of Salt Lake City.

Moss said the Army on March 13 conducted nerve gas tests at Dugway. Sheep were found dead the next day within 35 miles downwind from the tests.

State Agriculture Commissioner David R. Waldron said he and other representatives of state and federal agencies will meet today in emergency session with Gov. Calvin L. Rampton at the state Capitol.

Waldron is seeking help from federal officials in determining whether humans might be sus-

Battle School Blaze

Hosing down flames from ladders, firemen fought a fire Thursday night at Knob Noster Junior High School. Flames and smoke erupt from the roof of the structure. The building was heavily damaged by the fire. Firemen from Knob Noster, Whiteman AFB and Pettis County, as well as off-duty Whiteman personnel, combined to fight the blaze. (Democrat-Capitol Photo)

Israel Claims 150 Terrorists Killed

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli forces fought their way back home Thursday night claiming that they wiped out four Arab guerrilla bases and killed 150 terrorists in their 15-hour invasion of Jordanian territory on the east side of the Jordan River.

The Israelis said they lost only 30 of their men. The Jordanians claimed 200 of the invaders were killed and said only 20 Jordanians were dead. The Jordanians also claimed they knocked out most of the Israeli tanks and vehicles which crossed the Jordan River.

As the fighting ended, the Arabs and Israelis debated before the U.N. Security Council and

Swine Total In Missouri Shows Rise

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Swine on Missouri farms March 1 totaled 3,832,000 head, a five per cent increase over a year earlier, according to the Missouri Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The report said Missouri farmers are planning to have 521,000 sows farrow during the next six months, about one per cent below a year ago.

The pig crop produced in the December through February period totaled 1,345,000 head, compared to 1,328,000 head during the same three months in the 1966-67 period.

ceptible to whatever killed the sheep.

The dead sheep were located at the Hatch ranch on open rangeland where stock has grazed for years.

Waldron said that an unknown poison which affects the central nervous system apparently killed the animals, but it might be two weeks before laboratory tests could pinpoint a cause.

Snow still covers the grazing area and one theory has been put forth that the sheep contracted the fatal symptoms while eating snow to get water.

Moss said that 155mm shells packing nerve gas were used in an Army demonstration on the 13th. He said he had reports that 320 gallons of a "persistent agent" were released from a high-speed aircraft within 27 miles of the sheep that day, and that in the same area 160 gallons of persistent nerve gas was burned in a pit by the Army.

The Army at first denied any connection with the deaths, then said Thursday there was no way yet to tell what killed the sheep.

One Army spokesman said "normal operations" were conducted March 13 at Dugway, adding that one such operation "involved flight."

sought support in the corridors and lounges at U.N. headquarters in New York. The Arabs were reported optimistic that the council would adopt a resolution condemning Israel and warning that "effective steps" would be taken if the attack was repeated.

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram declared that the Israeli attack has "buried forever all chances for a peaceful settlement in the Middle East." It promised intensification of Arab guerrilla raids.

The United States rebuked both Israel and Jordan, but American specialists in Middle East affairs expressed guarded hope that the outbreak would prove just another one-day incident. The State Department acknowledged that the Israeli invasion was "in response to terrorist attacks" but said it was "damaging to the hope for a settlement."

The Israeli chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, insisted that the lightning invasion was not a reprisal for recent raids by Arab guerrillas but "an attack aimed at destroying" the bases of El Fatah, the terrorist organization which by Israeli estimate has 1,000 members.

Heavy fire from Jordanian guns slowed down the withdrawal, but Bar-Lev said the whole Israeli force had returned to the west bank of the Jordan River under jet fighter cover by nightfall. Jordan announced that the last Israeli forces withdrew across the river at 8 p.m. local time.

Amman Radio claimed that the invasion cost Israel dearly. It said the Jordanian forces destroyed 45 Israeli tanks and about 50 other armored vehicles and shot down five Israeli planes.

Students At Howard List Their Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rebellious students in their third day as rulers of the administration building at Howard University said the university president must quit before they'll come out.

At the first serious negotiations toward ending the dispute Thursday, a delegation of five students said President James M. Nabrit Jr. must go, and with him two other top university officials.

The student leaders and the five representatives of the administration who heard the demands—substantially escalated since the sit-in began Tuesday—said their might be a follow-up session today.

Classes at the predominantly Negro institution—nominally private but dependent for more than half its funds on the federal government—were suspended Wednesday by university officials. The administration said dormitories must be emptied by midnight tonight.

Weather

Partly cloudy and cold tonight with the lows in the lower 60s. Clear to partly cloudy and a little warmer Saturday with the highs around 50.

The temperature Friday was 24 at 7 a.m., and 36 at noon. Low Thursday night was 22.

The temperature one year ago today was high 71; low 42.

Lake of the Ozark stage: 55.4 feet; 4.6 feet below full reservoir; minus 0.1, Pomme de Terre 90.9 no change.

Penitentiary Inmate Is Stabbed in Chest

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Carroll Bert McMillen, 41, of Kansas City was stabbed in the chest today at the Missouri State Penitentiary. Warden Harold R. Swenson said he was in satisfactory condition.

Swenson said another convict used a sharpened dining table knife to stab McMillen near a dining room stairway. He said the assailant was apprehended and will be prosecuted.

Test in Nevada

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission said it conducted today a low-intermediate yield underground nuclear test at its Nevada test site.

The blast, equalling 20,000 to 200,000 tons of TNT, was the seventh weapons-related test announced this year.

Big Toll of Trucks On Red Line South

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers smashed 165 North Vietnamese trucks carrying military supplies to the Communists' troops along the demilitarized zone in the last two days, the U.S. Command announced today.

South of the DMZ, U.S. military sources said the North Vietnamese have moved highly mobile 37mm anti-aircraft guns up to the U.S. Marine fortress at Khe Sanh for the first time in the war, raising a serious new threat to the besieged base's aerial lifeline.

U.S. headquarters also reported that ground action in South Vietnam "continued at an accelerated pace" Thursday, and "significant contacts with enemy forces were reported in all corps tactical zones." Communiques reported American, South Vietnamese and Korean troops killed 330 of the enemy in scattered fighting.

U.S. pilots reported 110 trucks destroyed or damaged Wednesday in North Vietnam's southern panhandle and the Mu Gia Pass area and another 55 destroyed or damaged in the same general area Thursday.

"It's not a fact that the truck traffic is increasing," a U.S. spokesman said. "It's a fact that the weather is breaking."

Navy A5 Skyhawk bombers flying off the carrier Bon Homme Richard raked 14 different groups of trucks along a stretch of highway 40 miles south of Vinh, where many trucks were destroyed the day before. Pilots reported touching off numerous fires.

Air Force pilots also attacked several fuel storage depots north of the Mu Gia pass and reported their 750-pound bombs touched off four secondary explosions and two huge fires, with smoke rising 2,000 feet.

In all, U.S. pilots flew 108 missions over North Vietnam Thursday. Other key targets included three airfields, and eight railroad yards and sidings along the vital northeast and northwest railroad lines to Communist China. One of the strikes was within 24 miles of the Chinese border.

The debut of the Communists' 37mm anti-aircraft gun around Khe Sanh was termed serious by one U.S. officer who said: "It's a very good weapon. We want to get them out as soon as we spot them."

Field reports say seven of the 37mm guns around Khe Sanh are believed to have been destroyed, and no planes have been lost to the new anti-aircraft weapon yet. But the reports say (See BIG TOLL, Page 4.)

High Point School Election Is Set

No. 30 will have a special election at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the High Point School to vote on the proposed annexation of the High Point district by the Sedalia School District No. 200.

Ready to Hold Talks, Swiss Told By Hanoi

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The North Vietnamese government officially informed the Swiss government today that it is "seriously prepared" to enter into peace talks with the United States following an unconditional halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

The message was conveyed by the North Vietnamese representative in Paris, Mai Van Bo, who arrived in Bern Tuesday at the invitation of the Swiss government.

A Swiss government communique said: "Recalling the declarations made by the premier and foreign minister on the subject of eventual peace negotiations, Mr. Mai Van Bo added that the government of the Democratic Republic of North Vietnam is seriously prepared to take part in such negotiations after the unconditional halt to the bombing of North Vietnam."

Bo also informed Swiss government leaders that his government "is determined to pursue, to the end, the struggle for the liberation of Vietnam," the communique said.

Party Need For Unity Stressed By Humphrey

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey said today he hopes Democratic candidates running against President Johnson will support the party if they are defeated.

"The Democratic party has a unique history of being able to bind up enough of the wounds to come through in good shape," Humphrey told a news conference.

Humphrey, flying into Pittsburgh for a 5½-hour round of speeches with Democratic officials from three states said:

"My hope is that those who contest President Johnson will remember that the Democratic party is the source of where they are today..."

Asked if his feeling was stronger than mere hope, Humphrey said he could not predict the future.

Humphrey did not mention Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York nor Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, both candidates for the party's presidential nomination.

Humphrey said the administration's policy on Vietnam "is under review from A to Z." But he would not go into details.

Humphrey said he expected to carry out much of the presidential campaign on behalf of President Johnson. "The greatest service he can offer is to serve as President," Humphrey said. "The best politics is no politics."

Humphrey was in Pittsburgh for the Democratic National Committee regional conference, a two-day workshop for 300 party officials from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan. They will be studying campaign techniques and get-out-the-vote procedures.

Democratic National Chairman John Moran Bailey was to share the platform with Humphrey and Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph M. Barr.

Others attending the workshop are Interior Secretary Stewart Udall and Robert Weaver, secretary of Housing and Urban Affairs. Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Philadelphia was expected to fly in from Washington tonight.

In his prepared speech for a dinner, Humphrey said the Johnson administration has undertaken in recent days "an intensive review" to find "some better or more effective way to peace" in Vietnam.

After brief mention of the review he added "there can be no true and lasting peace in Vietnam, or Southeast Asia, until militant and powerful Communist forces are convinced that aggression will not pay—and that they must turn to honest negotiation."

Treasury's Bond Move Goes Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Regulations canceling the tax exemption for interest on industrial development bonds issued by cities and states will be put out Saturday, the Treasury Department announced.

The treasury thus is overriding numerous protests in Congress.

The cancellation applies to all bonds issued after last Friday. Interest on bonds sold on or before Friday will continue to be exempt from income taxes.

In its original announcement of the proposed action, it had set March 15 as the deadline for issuance of the regulations, but failed to get them ready in time.

Meantime the Senate Finance Committee had recommended legislation to bar the treasury from canceling the exemption.

The committee said the bonds—issued by municipalities to finance plants or other industrial facilities for private corporations—were a valuable stimulus to economic expansion. It said that if the exemption were to be denied, this should be done by Congress.

More than 40 states now permit issuance of the bonds as a lure to industry; the competition for new job-creating plants has come to be called "the new war between the states."

Usually the bonds are paid off from the rentals paid to the municipality by the company which uses the plant.

Czech Leader Submits His Resignation

PRAGUE (AP) — President Antonin Novotny gave up his fight for political survival today and resigned after the Czechoslovak Communist party's new anti-Stalinist leaders received the Kremlin's assurance that it would not interfere with their liberalization drive.

Novotny, a hard-line Communist, sent his letter of abdication to the National Assembly's presidium which immediately accepted it. The party presidium did likewise earlier today.

Novotny gave up his fight to hold on to the largely ceremonial presidency less than 48 hours after Deputy Premier Oldrich Cernik returned from Moscow.

Premier Alexei Kosygin and other top Soviet officials told him they would not interfere in Czechoslovakia's liberal new course of "socialist democratization."

Novotny's downfall began last January, when Alexander Dubcek replaced him as leader of the Czechoslovak Communist party, the position of real power.

In an attempt at a face-saving gesture, CTK, the official news service, said he now would retire from public life because of the "state of his health."

Novotny, 63, was named party leader in 1953 and president in 1957.

Destruction Of Property Charge Filed

Dennis Ray Humphrey, 21, 1501 South Ohio, was charged early Friday in a city warrant with destruction of property in connection with several reports of signs being knocked down by an automobile early Friday.

He was released on a $25 bond for court March 29.

According to police report, Raymond H. Ditzfield, Route 2, notified police that he saw a car knock down a highway marker at Broadway and Sneed. Police reports also indicated other incidents of highway signs and barricades being damaged at 16th and Beacon, 16th and Barrett and 11th and Carr.

The police were informed Friday morning by Tommy Coffman, 403 East Broadway, that someone damaged a brick corner post and fence during the night. Damage was estimated at $200.

Police Chief William Miller said Friday that Humphrey had told him that he did not remember hitting anything.

New Sedalia Church Formed

A new church was formed recently with the combining of First Pentecostal Church and the Gospel Tabernacle Church, both of the Pentecostal denomination. According to the Rev. Lee W. Rowden, pastor of the new church and former pastor of the First Pentecostal Church, the two combined because his former church needed a new building, and the district did not feel a need existed for two churches of the same denomination in the Sedalia area. The church is now in the process of reorganizing. (Democrat-Capitol

Participants in the program were Mrs. Mary Williams, Mrs. D. F. Richards, Mrs. T. E. Gasperson and Mrs. Carl Zimmerschied. Chairman for the day was Mrs. Robert Quigg.

Protestants Strive For Unification

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Protestantism's big push for unification goes into a critical stretch this weekend to see if it can get over a tough operational obstacle.

After having agreed on basic principles of doctrine and worship, representatives of 10 major denominations face a problem which so far has stymied them—how to mesh their different organizational systems.

That structural hurdle will be the main issue before the seventh annual meeting of the Consultation on Church Union, starting Sunday in Dayton, Ohio.

It comes at a time when widespread activities in the life of the churches "testify to a new and prevalent ecumenical mood," says a study report distributed to participants.

Paradoxically, the report notes, the developments show "a decreasing emphasis on structures" upholding particular denominational values—the very concern that has stalled the reunion talks.

Rather, the spontaneous, emerging emphasis has been on methods for accomplishing the common Christian task together through "structures for an ecumenical mission," the report says, adding: "Rightly guided, the developments may be an important stage on the way to achievement of structural unity."

With the summary in hand of how such operations already are being linked up in many areas and situations, the denominational representatives will make another try at means for fusing their national organizational mechanisms.

One of the chief conflicts so far has been over the power of bishops. The Methodist Church gives them full authority to appoint and remove pastors, while the other denominations give varying prerogatives in the matter to congregations and the pastors.

The question has stirred debate among Methodists themselves. One of that church's leading theologians, the Rev. Dr. Albert C. Outler, of Dallas, says the "absolute appointive power" of bishops is undermining clergy morale, in addition to holding up reunion efforts.

Urging a change in the system to provide "substantial recognition of the rights" of congregations and pastors, he says such a modification is "certain to come with any really serious achievement in Christian unity."

On the other hand, Methodist Bishop Nolan B. Harmon, of Atlanta, calls the system the "lifeblood of our organization," and says it presents an insurmountable barrier to the union talks. He says the consultation will come to nothing.

The 10 denominations involved have about 25½ million members. Besides the Methodist Church, they are: The Episcopal Church, the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., the United Church of Christ, the Christian (Disciples of Christ) Churches, the Evangelical United Brethren Church, the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., and three predominantly Negro bodies—the African Methodist Episcopal Church, the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, and the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church.

At the four-day Dayton meeting, special commissions will bring in their findings from studies made during the past year on procedures for merging memberships and ministers, and for setting up a provisional joint council.

Under tentative guidelines laid down earlier, the churches would work together increasingly through a provisional council for about 10 years as an interim stage to full merger.

To get this process of "growing together" started, participating denominations for several years have been encouraging pulp exchanges of pastors on special occasions, and now they're urging "congregation exchanges."

Officials said selected delegations from thousands of congregations are expected to trade places of worship en masse on "Consultation Visitation Sunday" April 28.

In addition to representatives of the 10 denominations, official observer-consultants from more than 20 other religious bodies, including the Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches, are expected at the Dayton sessions.

Receive Shipment of Gideon Bibles

The first shipment of 3,000 Bibles of the 10,000 to be distributed in the Lake of the Ozarks area by Gideon International arrived recently. The purchase of the Bibles was made possible through the cooperation of local churches and special designated gifts. From left to right receiving the Bibles are Clarence Davis, Versailles, Jess Hayes, Eldon, Marvin Welpman, Barnett, and Hal Martin, Osage Beach.

Pastor's Comment

By Walter F. Strickert, Pastor
St. Paul's Lutheran Church

Membership in the Christian church is a unique spiritual experience. It is not like being a member of a social club. It is a relationship with God and with the other members of God's family.

A Christian is genuinely grateful for his relationship with God, because he realizes that his is not a relationship which exists by nature. Man by nature is estranged from God.

Revival Time For Knob Noster Church

The Knob Noster Methodist Church will have a spiritual revival for one week, March 24 to 29, with the Rev. Wesley Arington of Schweitzer Memorial Methodist Church, Springfield, as guest evangelist.

Services will be held each day Sunday through Friday at 8 p.m., and Monday through Friday at 6:45 a.m. The morning services will be a half-hour long at a time convenient for most people to attend before going to work. There will be a Wednesday noon covered dish meal, followed by a message from the Rev. Arington.

Mr. Arington was appointed to the Springfield church two years ago, after having served four years as pastor of the Harrisonville Methodist Church.

First Baptist Will Hear Guest Speaker

The Rev. Bob Potter, admissions counselor at Southwest Baptist College in Bolivar will speak and show pictures at the 7 p.m. worship service Sunday at First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Potter, 2001 East Broadway, a graduate of Windsor High School, Southwest Baptist College, Baylor University, and the Midwestern Theological Seminary.

Before coming to Bolivar, he had been pastor in several Missouri churches.

He has traveled throughout Europe and the Middle East studying Biblical archaeology.

Christian Women To Meet Wednesday

The Quad-County Christian Women's fellowship spring assembly will be held Wednesday, March 27, at the Tipton Christian Church, with registration from 9:30 to 10 a.m. Dr. John L. Suttentfield, Jefferson City, and the Rev. George R. Igo, Tipton, will address the assembly on the theme of "Evangelism."

Choir Concert At St. Paul's Sunday Night

The 65 voice mixed choir of St. Paul's College, Concordia, Missouri, will present a three part concert of sacred music at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Broadway and Massachusetts, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The choir's appearance here is a part of a week-end tour through western Missouri.

The program will be divided into three sections, featuring music of the church year in Part one, while Parts two and three will include music from the Baroque to the contemporary period.

Part one opens the program with a simple harmonization of the Reformation chorale by Martin Luther, "A Mighty Fortress is our God." The rest of Part one follows the Christian church year beginning with a solo and chorus, "Liebster Herr Jesu," from a cantata by Buxtehude. "His Yoke is Easy" from "The Messiah" by Handel reflects the Christmas spirit, while a Latin setting of the words of Jesus revealing His betrayal and sacrifice to His disciples, "Tristis Est Anima Mea," by Leonardo Leo, provides the Lenten motif.

A setting of "Hosanna to the Son of David" by contemporary composer Jan Bender portrays the events of Palm Sunday followed by the rousing Easter hymn, "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones," arranged by William Fischer. Part one concludes with the singing of a plainsong setting of the ninth century Latin Pentecost hymn, "O Come, Creator Spirit, Come."

Three major works constitute Part two of the program. The section opens with a motet for double choir, "Nun Danket Alle Gott," by Johann Pachelbel, sung in German. The second selection is from Bach's Cantata Number 172, "Sing Praises Ye Faithful," and the concluding number of Part two is a contemporary setting of the "Te Deum Laudamus" by Donald Busarow, accompanied by brass ensemble, timpani and piano.

Part three consists of a group of numbers by composers of various periods. The outstanding numbers of this group are the setting of Psalm 46 "God is Our Refuge" by Jan Bender and the setting of the story of the Pharisee and the Publican by Heinrich Schuetz. The concert traditionally closes with the well-known evening hymn, "Now Rest Beneath Night's Shadow," sung in German.

New Hope Has Revival Week

The New Hope Baptist church will begin a revival on Monday evening with the Rev. Clifford Moeller, pastor of Grace Baptist Church of Granite City, Ill. as evangelist.

The music will be under the direction of Mr. Raymond Hall from the First Baptist church of Sedalia.

Services will begin at 7:30 p.m. each day. Regular services will be held on Sunday, with the pastor, the Rev. Marvin Nobles preaching.

Nursery care will be provided by the church for those who attend with small children.

RLDS Church Will Hold World Meeting March 31

The World Conference of the RLDS Church will open Sunday, March 31, in the RLDS Auditorium in Independence. Senator Stuart Symington will address the opening business session of the Conference, according to an announcement by W. Wallace Smith, President and Prophet of the Church.

More than 20,000 members of the Church are expected to attend at least part of the Conference. The Church has organized branches in 18 countries, in addition to the United States and Canada.

At the last biennial Conference in April, 1966, registration totaled approximately 10,560. Many visitors to the conference do not register and attend only part time. Voting delegates this year are expected to total about 1800. World Church membership at the end of 1967 was approximately 197,000.

Three communion services, the first at 7 a.m. will open the Conference in the 6000 seat RLDS Auditorium. A dedication service at 2 p.m. the following Sunday will close the eight day event. In addition to the three communion services, there will be 17 general prayer services, 20 preaching services, 32 delegate and quorum sessions, 10 business meetings, and six organ recitals besides numerous class sessions, programs and a variety of other activities.

There are many major items for business including the budget totaling $9,645,832 for 1968 and 1969. Some of these items of business to be considered are: Opening of a Graceland College Campus in Independence, establishing new stakes in Des Moines, Iowa; Denver, Colorado; and Tulsa, Oklahoma and adopting the budget.

The World Conference is being planned by and will be presided over by the First Presidency of the Church which includes, President W. Wallace Smith, and his counselors Maurice L. Draper and Duane E. Couey.

Area Counties Recognized At CROP Meeting

Pettis, Cooper, Moniteau, and Johnson Counties were among 14 counties recognized for outstanding achievement in Jefferson City Thursday at the second Consultation on World Hunger. The meeting was held at the First Christian Church.

The four area counties were recognized for their work in the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) of the church worlds services. The keynote speaker was the Rt. Rev. Edward R. Welles, Episcopal Bishop of west Missouri. He told these gathered for the meeting of his first impressions of the overseas ministries of the church.

Cordell W. Tindell, editor of the Missouri Ruralist, was the guest speaker at the luncheon.

Half the Population Worships Each Week

Approximately 50 per cent of the population of Versailles, 1,210 persons, attended the eight churches for morning services on Sunday, March 10, according to a survey taken by telephone calls to each of the pastors of their representatives.

Mrs. T. N. Keith made the survey and hopes that the number may double by Easter Sunday.

Save Furniture

School

was reportedly damaged in being removed.

Furniture Taken Out

Volunteers removed many classroom desks, chairs, books and other articles from the first and second floors, keeping them from being damaged from water.

Office furniture and equipment in the offices of the superintendent of schools, James Jagelman, and the school principal, Fred Frye, whose offices were at the front of the school in the new annex, were carried out when it appeared the fire might get out of control.

Shortly after midnight, when it was assured the fire was out, furniture and equipment which had not been taken away to other buildings, were moved back in to the new annex section of the building.

The Knob Noster School District has a $270,000 bond issue coming up on April 2 which is to be used for additional annex buildings to the present property and for additional classrooms at the elementary school.

A Knob Noster resident pointed out that the extra classrooms were needed badly, adding that churches are being used for kindergartens and that classes in the other schools were overcrowded. "Now," she said, "we'll need this bond issue to pass for sure."

Insurance adjusters were on the scene within an hour after learning of the fire. One explained, "This damage could easily reach $125,000, when one figures the two lower floors have been severely damaged by water and smoke and some fire in the center of the building, the loss to the top floor, the roof, and all, not failing to mention the damage resulting when volunteers carried out equipment from the new annex."

Doubt on Walls

Fire Chief Saul said he could not say if the upper third floor walls had been damaged to a point where they might have to be replaced, which would run the loss much higher.

School officials were not available for comment Thursday night regarding the plans, but a member of the faculty reported there was little doubt arrangements would be made as quickly as possible to locate class rooms elsewhere in churches and use the large gymnasium for classes. The new annex section of the school will be available almost immediately to continue classes there. In any event class rooms in the old building are unlikely to be usable for some time until school officials can be assured they are safe, and a new roof put on the building.

But, Knob Noster residents are looking forward to April 2, in hope their school bond issue, badly needed now, will be passed.

Recapture Escapees

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—All nine youths who escaped Wednesday from the Missouri Training School for Boys at Boonville are back in custody, the highway patrol headquarters reported.

The last three fugitives were apprehended Thursday in Van Buren County, Michigan.

The boys, ranging in ages from 14 to 18 years, escaped after tying and gagging a guard.

Accidents

The 600 block of South Osage was the scene of a two-car accident at 5:01 p. m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1966 Chevrolet, driven west on Sixth by Quincy Allen Rehmer, 39, 1901 South Stewart, and a supposedly parked 1967 Chevrolet, driven by Carol June Jocheul, 26, 2505 South Woodlawn.

According to police, the Jocheul auto had been parked in a private parking and it apparently rolled into the street.

No injuries were reported in a two-car accident at Tenth and Massachusetts at 5:13 p. m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1966 Pontiac, driven south on Massachusetts by Arvil W. Buchanan, 46, 637 East 15th, and a 1967 Plymouth, driven east on Tenth by Ronald L. Finnell, 22, 601 East Tenth.

Damage was to the right side of the Pontiac and the front of the Plymouth.

Circuit Court

The parole of Tommy Oliver, 17, 1109 East Tenth, was revoked Thursday afternoon in Circuit Court. The parole was revoked after Oliver was arrested earlier this week for trespassing on county property and being drunk in public. He was sentenced to two years in the custody of the Missouri Department of Corrections for arson in February.

Charlotte Colbert was granted a divorce from Joseph Colbert in Circuit Court Thursday. George H. Miller was the attorney for the plaintiff.

Gregory Stephen Farrell was charged with burglary and second degree stealing before Magistrate Judge Frank T. Armstrong in a state complaint presented by prosecuting attorney Henry A. Keeler in Circuit Court Thursday.

The charges stemmed from a break-in at Welch's Market, 410 South Barrett, on March 6, 1968, when $29.70 worth of cigarettes were reported stolen from the store.

A $2,500 appearance bond was set for Farrell. William F. Brown is Farrell's attorney.

Charles E. Dove was granted a divorce from Mary S. Dove Friday morning in Circuit Court. William F. Brown was attorney for the plaintiff.

the guns have opened fire on C130 cargo planes making supply drops and on jet fighter-bombers escorting the cargo carriers.

U.S. sources said the 37mm guns have an effective range of 8,000 to 10,000 feet and pack "a lot more punch" than the 50-caliber machine guns the North Vietnamese have been using against Khe Sanh's only supply route.

With an effective range of about 4,500 feet, the machine guns and other automatic weapons have knocked down three Marine jet bombers, two cargo planes and several helicopters. One of the cargo planes carried 49 persons; all were killed.

The 37mm guns also are a threat to U.S. fighter-bombers that have been flying an average of 200 strikes a day against the estimated 20,000 North Vietnamese troops besieging Khe Sanh.

North Vietnamese forces broke the back of the French resistance at Dien Bien Phu in 1954 after 37mm guns shot down plane after plane trying to parachute supplies to the beleaguered fortress or bombing in support of the French garrison.

The daily shelling of Khe Sanh continued on a reduced scale Thursday, with North Vietnamese gunners landing 110 rounds of artillery, rockets and mortars on the Marine base. But of possibly more significance was a 100-round barrage poured into two U.S. artillery strongpoints that support Khe Sanh from the east, the Rock Pile and Camp Carroll.

AP correspondent Edwin Q. White reported from Da Nang that the shelling was the heaviest at Camp Carroll in some time and could be the beginning of a harassment campaign against the two bases. U.S. commanders believe that before the North Vietnamese can make a serious attempt to overrun Khe Sanh, they must silence the big 175mm howitzers which back up Khe Sanh from the two posts to the east.

A new offensive thrust by the U.S. 9th infantry division to secure the main food line from the Mekong Delta to Saigon was announced by the U.S. Command, the sixth allied operation disclosed in the last two days.

Named "Operation Peoples Road" and centered 40 miles southwest of Saigon, its goal is to secure the frequently cut National Route 4. The operation was launched March 1, but the U.S. Command said there has been only light contact so far, with 19 Viet Cong killed and one U.S. soldier wounded.

"Wigs and How to Wear Them" was the program at the meeting of the American Business Women's Association March 5, at State Fair Restaurant, by Mrs. Fern Burris and Mrs. Pat Thorpe. The guest speakers, from Artistic Coiffures, explained the different types of wigs, wig care and wig styling.

Several members of the ABWA modeled the various wigs and hair pieces the speakers had brought with them.

Mrs. Helyn Johnson, president, presided over the meeting with invocation by Miss Mary Merritt.

Mrs. Lorene Owen gave the vocational talk about "Soil and Gardening."

Music was by a flute quartet from Smith-Cotton High School composed of Jana Franks, Lynn Lockett, Pam Maples and Debora Lyles.

Children Get Time On Network

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Network television turned its attention to children Thursday.

It has been a period when the networks have all been getting criticism about their Saturday morning program lineup of cartoon shows.

Networks are pretty ruthless about prime time programming. An evening series that fails to win or place in the Nielsen race is usually replaced at the earliest possible moment. The Saturday morning lineup apparently has involved the networks' precious images so something has been done.

The first event was a mid-week announcement by the educational network, in financial collaboration with two foundations and the U.S. government, that it would turn out a 26-week series of daily programs aimed at the preschool crowd and stressing the educational aspects of entertainment.

By extraordinary coincidence, less than 24 hours later, NBC said it would present a "new concept" of programming on Saturday mornings starting next September—an hour of child-oriented programs that would consist of high grade cartoons, music and games, plus some repeat performances of special children's shows that have won good notices from adult critics.

Within hours, came word from CBS of "a major new creation" on Saturday mornings, also starting in September. That network plans to return to the old gentle "Bugs Bunny" type of cartoon—as opposed to shows starring monsters, spooks and supermen—for two and one-half hours weekly. CBS hopes to turn out some special travel and real-life adventure shows, too.

And both have plans for serials like those many-part cliffhangers that used to fill movie theaters with young on Saturday mornings.

Neither revision of programming, it was firmly stated, had been stimulated by the criticism of the cartoons now seen, and all plans were on network drafting boards long before the educational network announcement beat them to the punch.

Meanwhile, Thursday night there was the first production of the season from NBC's "Children's Theatre"—"The Reluctant Dragon," starring the puppet Kuklapolitan players and Fran Allison.

Kukla, Fran, Ollie, Cecil Bill, Beulah Witch and Mme. Oglepuss over the years have built up a hard-core legion of adult fans, since puppeteer Burr Tillstrom is a pretty sophisticated impresario, and they were not let down Thursday night.

During the hour—which was beginning to drag a bit toward the end—Ollie was magnificent in blue wig and a neck of iridescent blue sequins for dragon scales. Kukla was almost unrecognizable in a blond wig.

The story centered on the arrival of warrior St. George to get rid of a gentle, poetry-writing dragon. It had all sorts of moral lessons built in, including one about spreading false rumors. But the windup fight between St. George and the dragon was a phony, rigged by the principals—and what kind of a lesson is that?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two months after North Korea's Jan. 23 seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo, the brink-of-war fever it generated has simmered down to a lingering diplomatic crisis.

American officials, who chose diplomacy instead of force, say they foresee no release of the vessel and her 82 surviving crewmen any time soon.

While two U.S. aircraft carriers stand by well off the Korean coast in the Sea of Japan, the antagonists now thrust and parry through spokesmen in secrecy-cloaked talks at Panmunjom.

North Korea demands a U.S. confession of criminal espionage inside Korean territorial waters and an apology for "hostile acts."

President Johnson has received a letter purportedly signed by the Pueblo's 82 surviving crewmen, saying a Washington apology is needed "before our repatriation can be realized." Now other letters in the same vein from individual crewmen are being received by their families.

The letters have been carrying the Communist charge that the Pueblo intruded within 7.6 miles of North Korean shores, inside the Reds' claimed 12-mile territorial limit. The U.S. government says it has positive electronic tracking proof that the ship was seized in international waters, 15.4 miles from the nearest Korean land.

Washington's reply to Pyongyang has been: Return the crewmen and if their testimony shows any American violation the U.S. government will take the appropriate action.

Representatives of the two sides met again Thursday at Panmunjom, this time for an hour. It was the 12th confrontation on the Pueblo at the Korean truce site and the State Department's report was as before: "No progress."

State Department authorities expect more talk, probably lots more, before North Korea seriously considers freeing the prisoners. They figure the Communists will try first to extract maximum propaganda mileage and concessions from the incident.

Nothing about the Pueblo's unspectacular past suggested she would wind up in North Korea's Wonsan Harbor in one of the U.S. Navy's unhappiest episodes, being the first federal warship captured at sea since the Confederates seized the Harriet Lane in 1862.

The Pueblo actually began its career with the Army late in World War II. Weighing in at only 906 tons—less than half a destroyer's size—the 179-foot vessel built at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., in 1944 put in a 10-year tour as a light Army cargo ship before its first retirement.

The Navy recommissioned the little vessel last May 13 at Bremerton, Wash., outfitting it with the latest electronic eavesdropping gear.

She was thus able to perform a wide range of intelligence work—from intercepting radio communications to spotting radar sites and charting ocean depths.

It was still no battleship. It carried only three .50-caliber machineguns, usually kept under canvas. Its top speed was 12.2 knots.

The new skipper was Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, 38, a Pocahontas, Idaho, native and Boys Town, Neb., graduate. It was his first command.

Bucher sailed off to his new home port—Yokosuka, Japan—and moved his family from Jefferson, Mo., to San Diego, Calif., where he had expected to return this spring.

Just what happened on the voyage which climaxed in international crisis is still obscured by official secrecy and the inability to get an undoctored account from the commander and his crew.

The Pueblo sailed into the Sea of Japan on Jan. 8 with 83 Americans aboard—Bucher and 5 other officers, 73 enlisted men; 2 Marines and 2 civilian hydrographic technicians.

Bucher's mission was intelligence collection. He was under instructions to stay at least 13 miles offshore and to maintain radio silence unless something happened to warrant a quick communication to headquarters.

The Pueblo's radio silence began Jan. 10 as it went about its task of intelligence-gathering off the Korean coast.

On Jan. 22 the Pueblo sighted two small North Korean boats, perhaps fishing vessels, at about 12:25 p.m. Korean time. The boats were around 10,000 yards away at the time. They closed to within about 30 yards of the Pueblo, then moved away. They were in the vicinity for a couple of hours all told.

The Pueblo broke radio silence to report this, although not very urgently. It did not get around to sending this message, the Pentagon says, until Jan. 23, shortly before the next incident.

Washington officials said the Pueblo was well outside the 12-mile limit during the Jan. 22 encounter, and that American intelligence ships often come under nonviolent harassment in the area. A sister electronic ferret ship, the Banner, had at one time in previous months been surrounded by 11 patrol boats for 2½ hours without being directly molested.

The next Pueblo message to its Japan headquarters, run by Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, was the start of the series which in 2½ hours told the U.S. government most of what it knows about the climactic action.

About noon, Korean time, on Jan. 23, a North Korean patrol boat approached the Pueblo and with international flag signals asked the American ship to identify its nationality. The Pueblo hoisted the U.S. ensign.

"Heave to," the Communist ship said with more flag signals, "or I will open fire on you."

"I am in international waters," the Pueblo replied. The patrol boat circled the Pueblo.

About 1 p.m. three more North Korean patrol boats showed up, moving in from the seaward side. One ordered: "Follow in my wake; I have a pilot aboard."

The four ships closed in on the Pueblo off her bow, beam and quarter. Two Mig jets zoomed within sight of the Pueblo's crew. Another six planes were counted in the air by other U.S. intelligence sources, which also said 75 more North Korean warplanes were on alert at nearby Wonsan.

At 1:15 p.m. Bucher reported the patrol boats were trying to board the Pueblo and he would attempt to flee the area. The patrol boats were reported to have fired numerous shots, but the Pueblo apparently did not fire back.

One of the patrol boats backed toward the bow of the Pueblo with fenders rigged and an armed boarding party. At 1:45 p.m. the North Koreans came aboard—and at this time the Pueblo radioed it first call for assistance.

At 2:10 p.m. the Pueblo messaged she had been told to follow the North Korean boats into Wonsan. At 2:32 p.m. came her final word: She had come to "all stop" and was "going off the air."

During the action four of the Pueblo's crewmen were injured. The Reds reported later that one, Fireman Duane D. Hodges, of Creswell, Ore., had died.

Bucher radioed during the encounter that he had ordered destruction of secret equipment aboard the ship. How much of the coding and other sensitive gear was actually destroyed before the Communists took over is not known. The Pueblo did not carry a device for quick scuttling of the ship in an emergency.

The U.S. government is definite, however, in pinpointing the Pueblo's location at the time of seizure as 25 miles from Wonsan and 15.4 miles from the closest island, Ung Do.

Officials say both U.S. and North Korean radar tracking show the ship was not inside Korean waters that day. Officials have not ruled out the possibility the vessel may have strayed inside the 12-mile limit during the days of radio silence.

In Washington, 14 hours behind Korean time, it was around midnight on Jan. 22 before high officials became aware of the Pueblo's plight.

Then-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara got his first word at 12:22 a.m. EST on Jan. 23—after the North Koreans had already boarded the ship. President Johnson was awakened with the news shortly after 2 a.m.

In the public uproar that quickly followed, several key questions stood out.

Should the United States pursue its intelligence gathering work so close to hostile territory? The administration's answer: Yes, because it is necessary in a dangerous world, because it is legal on the high seas and because the Communists carry out similar activities along non-Communist shores.

Should intelligence craft hereafter be given armed guard? The officials response: Steps can be taken to reduce chances of capture, but performing the intelligence work with armed sorties would raise more difficulties than it would solve.

Oratorical Contest By Optimist Club

The Sunrise Optimist Club of Sedalia will sponsor a boy's oratorical contest Saturday at Flat Creek Inn. The contest theme this year is "The Golden Opportunities of Youth." All boys who had not reached their 16th birthday by Dec. 31, 1967, are eligible.

The winners of the local contest will compete against winners from other clubs in a district contest. Winners in the district contest will compete in the preliminary contest at the Optimist International Convention in Louisville, Ky., June 16 to 20. The five winners from the preliminary will compete in the finals.

The winner in the international finals will receive a $2,000 college scholarship and each runner-up will receive a $1,000 scholarship.

retary of State George W. Ball has made a secret report to Johnson on this. Publicly, the Pentagon says no sufficiently strong American forces were close enough to have come to the Pueblo's rescue in time.

On the major question—how to get the men back—Johnson and his top strategists arrived early at a decision which has shaped events since:

Neither an armed rescue attempt nor a retaliatory strike against North Korea nor a combination of the two would be likely to return the Pueblo's survivors alive. Thus diplomacy is being pursued.

Johnson did quickly divert the U.S. carrier Enterprise, then just leaving Japan for Vietnam, into the Sea of Japan. He called up more than 14,000 air reservists. U.S. Far East forces went on alert. The Enterprise has since been replaced by the carriers Yorktown and Ranger.

But the main U.S. effort has followed the diplomatic track—and so far produced only a stalemate.

The United States has appealed to the Soviet Union for help in getting the men back. The Kremlin turned a deaf ear. The United States went to the U.N. Security Council, which resolved nothing. It tried Red Cross channels, without result.

If there is one hopeful development, U.S. authorities say, it is that the North Koreans have at least agreed to talk at Panmunjom and have provided some information about the prisoners.

Democrats Headed For Springfield

SPRINGFIELD Mo. (AP) — Several thousand Missouri Democrats headed for their annual Jackson Day celebration in Springfield today and Saturday.

The banquet speaker Saturday night is Gov. Warren E. Hearnes a departure from tradition. Usually an outside speaker is brought in. Hearnes is expected to announce his candidacy for a second term, another first.

He was instrumental in getting a constitutional amendment passed allowing a governor to succeed himself.

In addition, both of Missouri's Democratic senators are expected to address the banquet crowd briefly. They are senior Sen. Stuart Symington of St. Louis and Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Louisiana, Mo., who faces stiff opposition.

A major topic at the meeting is expected to be a fight for Long's seat. He has been criticized for accepting legal fees from Morris Shenker, one of the attorneys for convicted teamster boss James R. Hoffa.

Long has said the Senate Ethics Committee vindicated him completely.

Challenging him for the Democratic nomination are Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton, True Davis of St. Joseph, former assistant U.S. Treasurer and ambassador to Switzerland and Dorsey Bass Columbia businessman.

Also filed for fomrner state Rep. Lee C. Sutton of Paris, Mo., and William McKinley Thomas of Louis, who runs every time for some high office.

SISTER Dorothy Winkeljohn, C.P.P.S., teacher at Sacred Heart, has received a National Science Foundation grant to attend the Academic Year Institute for science teachers at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y. The grant covers full tuition plus a $3,000 stipend, book and travel allowances. Sister Dorothy will be taking the chemistry and physics courses for her M.S. degree. This is the second year Sister Dorothy has been at Sacred Heart, where she teaches biology, chemistry and physics.

Heavenly Spectacular

What was that swift-flitting object that streaked the western starlit sky Tuesday night?

Was it a meteor or a meteorite? What's the difference? We asked the man at the next desk. He replied that a meteorite was a small meteor. You can get an argument started over a thing like that.

Actually a meteor is a streak of light in the night sky produced by the passage through the earth's atmosphere of one of the countless small particles of solid matter in the solar system. A meteorite is a solid particle from interplanetary space that survives the destructive effects of a flight through the earth's atmosphere and falls to the ground in one or more pieces. Those are the definitions.

First let us tell you what brought on this comment. Driving home from attendance at the Knife and Fork club program Tuesday night at Hotel Bothwell we witnessed in the sky for a few seconds a fiery light shaped like an elongated teardrop as big as a balloon. The momentary brilliance and speed of this phenomenon was fantastic. We have seen hundreds of shooting stars but nothing before as big as this. At first the bulb of the teardrop was golden, suddenly enlarging, changing to blue, then exploding itself into nonexistence. We heard no sound.

If it was a meteorite the pieces might have landed in Liberty Park it seemed so near. But the next day an Associated Press dispatch from Hutchinson, Kas. referred to it as a meteor in the northeast sky. It was in the northwest sky when sighted in Sedalia. A spokesman for the Federal Aviation administration described it as "the brightest I've ever seen." It was reported by two operators in the FAA tower in Hutchinson and a pilot flying in the area.

Too bad the Unidentified Flying Object adherents didn't get a glimpse of this fast moving attraction.

Speculation might give attribution to the origin of the object as one of thousands of pieces of orbital junk the U. S. and Russians have hurled into space, now falling back into the atmosphere to be burned by friction.

If anyone in the Central Missouri area witnessed this spectacular Tuesday night, we would appreciate hearing from you. Who knows, some of the pieces may be lying around in your backyard or farm between Sedalia and Hutchinson, Kas. If so this UFO can be identified as a meteorite instead of a meteor.

Precious U.S. Dollars for Greece

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration's apparent love of the military was highlighted last week in the middle of the gold crisis when George F. Woods, President of the World Bank, OK'd a $12.5 million loan to the Greek military dictatorship.

This was on the same day that trading in gold reached such a frenzied peak that the London gold market was ordered shut down.

The loan could not have been made without the blessing of the United States, and it meant an export of precious dollars at a time when we were supposed to be nursing dollars.

Mr. Woods, who shortly steps down as World Bank president to be succeeded by ex-Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, OK'd the loan to the Greek military one day after receiving a strong protest from Andreas Papandreou, former University of Minnesota and California professor and exiled cabinet member in his father's center union government. This was the largest political party in Greece when the Greek colonels stepped in to throw out parliamentary rule. Andreas has been in jail most of the time since.

For some strange reason the Greek dictatorship has enjoyed special concessions from the Johnson administration. It and Finland are the only two countries to be exempted from the ban on U.S. investments abroad. The position of democratic Finland is understandable because it has religiously paid its war debts to the United States.

The special favoritism given the Greek dictatorship is explained by some diplomats as resulting from the fact that Tex Thornton, chairman of Litton Industries and a friend of LBJ's has a contract with the Greek military to send American industry to Greece on a commission basis.

Obviously, no American industry can invest in Greece if there is a ban on the shipment of dollars abroad; so Litton was able to wangle an exemption from this ban. Dan Brewster, in charge of the State Department's Greek desk and very pro-military, is also given credit for the loan.

Significantly, the European Investment Bank, which was supposed to advance $8 million, refused to go along with the World Bank.

The loan will be administered in part by Dr. Constantine Thanos, Deputy Governor of the Bank of Greece, recently exposed for plagiarizing the thesis which won him his doctor's degree from Columbia University. This column reported Oct. 6, 1967, that Thanos had plagiarized his thesis from Dr. J. A. Galbraith of McGill University in Toronto. The Toronto Globe and Mail of March 5 reported that Columbia University will shortly remove the doctor's degree which Thanos received under false pretenses.

NOTE: The Greek Embassy public relations machine has been busy writing letters to editors in opposition to critical newspaper columns. It even contacted prominent Greek-Americans in California asking that they deluge Rep. Don Edwards of San Jose with 500 letters because he had spoken out against the Greek dictatorship. For a foreign embassy to influence American politics is a violation

MONEY CLIPS

The Barber-head Dime

The Barber-head or Liberty dime was designed by Charles E. Barber in 1892 along with his quarter and half-dollar of the same year.

It was minted at the Philadelphia and San Francisco (S) mints from 1892 to 1916; the New Orleans (O) mint from 1892 to 1909, with the exception of 1904; and the Denver (D) mint from 1906 to 1914, with the exception of 1913.

Although it is rare to find one of these dimes in circulation, they are being discovered every day in little collections of mementos handed down with family keepsakes and if there is one in your treasure chest, hang on to it.

Many have a fair collector's value and quite often one that commands a rather high premium will make its appearance.

The 1894-S Barber-head brought the highest price ever paid for any dime. At the Century Sale in 1865 one of the 24 known pieces sold for $12,250.

Answering the mail:

Mrs. O. N., Waelder, Tex. (San Antonio Express and News): Your 1912 Liberty-head nickel with the D on the reverse is a product of the Denver mint and lists at $1.50 in good or just readable condition to $200 in uncirculated condition. There were only 8½ million of this coin minted, which accounts for its scarcity.

Expert bidding frequently resembles a nightmare with every player trying to guess what his opponents are up to.

This hand went along tamerly enough until East's jump to three spades. South had a sound opening heart bid, West had some sort of a takeout double and North had a book redouble.

East's jump to three spades was based on a stout heart and the fact that his opponents were vulnerable and he wasn't. This crowded South into four diamonds. West entered into the spirit of the matter and went to four spades whereupon North jumped to six hearts.

North had no idea whether the contract would be a cinch or impossible. He really sort of hoped that East or West would sacrifice at six spades but East had bid more than enough and West decided to hope for two club tricks.

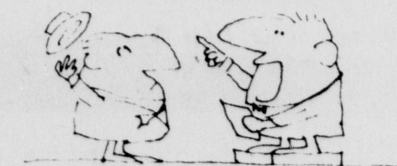

West did open with two rounds of clubs. South ruffled the second and proceeded to draw trumps just as anyone would.

If trumps had broken 2-2 South would have had no further problem but West showed out on the second lead. South played a third round anyway and was careful to win in his own hand.

South counted his tricks. He had four trump tricks in and could make his last trump and dummy's last trump separately for two more. The ace of spades would be his seventh trick and five diamond tricks were needed to bring home the slam. If diamonds would break nicely he could just run the five tricks off but the bidding indicated that diamonds were not going to behave properly. Therefore, South decided to play West for the jack of diamonds. He led his 10 spot and let it ride. Then he took dummy's king, picked up the suit and made his slam.

Government Plan Can Spur Action

By JACK MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's new program to fight discrimination in Northern schools cannot force local districts to eliminate racial imbalance.

But federal officials hope it will indirectly spur states and localities to move against racial discrimination and racial imbalance on their own. And the U.S. Office of Education will provide money for those which do so.

Federal policies for the program are contained in a new set of guidelines issued earlier this week by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The guidelines for the first time set nondiscrimination policies for the whole country, not just the South.

Although federal funds may not be used directly to overcome racial imbalance as such, they may—and are—used by states to reduce segregation in order to improve the quality of their educational systems.

This follows the view of U.S. Commissioner of Harold Howe II that a segregated Education cannot be an excellent one.

Federal officials are encouraged because some states—notably New York and Massachusetts—have gone beyond the federal law and require their localities to take action against racial imbalance.

The new guidelines stay strictly to the matter of discrimination against Negroes and other minority groups. They focus mainly on two questions:

1. Are students in Negro schools getting their share of the money, teaching talent and facilities?
2. Are school policies, such as drawing attendance-zone maps, causing segregation?

Federal investigators are bound to find some evidence of discrimination. As one official put it, "we know, for example, that there are places where Negro schools are on double shifts and white schools aren't."

But even limited violations of the Civil Rights Act will be hard to prove. Federal officials readily admit they don't have a fraction of the staff needed for complete enforcement of the law.

The director of civil rights operations for HEW, Peter Libassi, says: "What we're hoping is that local officials will seize the initiative and take action against discrimination."

Libassi expresses hope that many districts will go beyond requirements of the law and take on the racial imbalance issue as well.

He says the department is counting on "members of school boards getting up in meetings and saying, 'Look, whether or not this is a violation of the law, we've got a problem here (with racial imbalance) and we ought to do something about it.'"

The department will begin its compliance activities soon by sending out investigators to up to a dozen cities where discrimination is expected.

Selected cities will be of moderate size.

Federal officials have little hope for much action against racial imbalance in the largest cities. They say the concentration of Negro students is too massive, the distances from white schools too great.

Large-scale mixing in such cities would require metropolitan desegregation plans that go far beyond anything contemplated in the new program.

The program's goal for the big cities will be mainly to see that Negro and other minority youngsters are provided the same chance as white children for a good education.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Foods Do Not Cause Clogging of Bowels

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — Do butter, cream, olive oil, etc., contribute to the constipation of elderly persons?

A — No food contributes to constipation in the sense of blocking the digestive tract or slowing the natural onward sweep of the contents of the intestines. Such concentrated foods as sugar, cheese and fats neither stimulate nor hinder the bowel. Constipation at any age is due not to the presence of certain foods, but to the lack of sufficient bulk or roughage.

Q — Whenever I am constipated, I have a headache. A laxative relieves this. What laxative is best?

A — Constipation may cause difficult or painful evacuation but it is blamed unjustly for many other symptoms. Some other cause for your headaches should be sought.

Q — Can chronic constipation cause the large bowel to stretch lengthwise and thus aggravate the constipation? X rays show that I have this condition. Would it be helpful to have a portion of my colon removed?

A — Constipation will not affect the length of the colon and the length of the colon will not aggravate your constipation. Some people have a longer colon than others, just as some have a longer nose. In neither case is there any cause for alarm. A woman might want to have her nose shortened for cosmetic reasons, but no one will know you have a long colon unless you tell them. So no surgery is advised.

Q — I had pains in my right side and my doctor said I had a sluggish bowel. He has me taking Surfak. I am better, but I still have abdominal discomfort. What do you advise?

A — Surfak, a sulfosuccinate, is a nonirritating, nonlaxative drug that softens the stool. Taken in too large a dosage, however, it can lead to over emptying the bowel. You should try to regulate your bowel by adjusting the amount of vegetable and fruit in your diet. If you must take a sulfosuccinate, try using a smaller dose or switch to a psyllium preparation (Konyl or Metamucil).

Q — I have chronic constipation and have been taking Dialose every day. About once a week I don't take it because my stools become too loose. I have also taken Colace. Is there a better drug?

A — Dialose and Colace are both sulfosuccinate preparations. For recommendations see answer to previous question.

DENVER POST: Two Cultures, One Nation. — The Belgians, whom Julius Caesar described as the bravest of all the Gauls, will need all the bravery they can muster these days to cope with a new outbreak of the historic conflict between the Flemings and the Walloons. The Flemings, who speak Dutch and make up a majority of Belgium's population, have been disturbed about the strong cultural influence of the Walloons, who speak French.

A month ago, Flemish students at Louvain University began three weeks of rioting to force the expulsion of the French-speaking part of the faculty and students. The cries of "Whalen Vuiten" — "Walloons Go Home" echoed all the way to Brussels and brought the collapse of the coalition government.

The zealots who are pressing for one language and one culture may very well end up with two countries. We hope the Walloons and the Flemings will be able to avoid the fate of the Nigerians and the Biafrans, the Montagues and the Capulets and the Hatfields and the McCoy's.

We hope also that Belgium can find a new bilingual, bicultural government of Flemings and Walloons to lead a unified nation.

Book Is Near Best Seller Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Only two weeks old, the paperback edition of the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders is already soaring toward million-seller status. And it's sparking a number of projects among businessmen, in churches, and in poor communities.

A spokesman for Bantam Books said Thursday the publishing house has just ordered 70,000 more copies printed, bringing the total to 810,000. The 720-page, $1.25 edition sold 300,000 copies in its first three days, leading some outlets to call it "the fastest seller since Valley of the Dolls."

Bantam said an enormous range of organizations, public and private, have placed bulk orders for use in a variety of projects.

At an emergency meeting of the Priest's Senate of the Brooklyn, N.Y., Roman Catholic Diocese last week, members present approved a resolution asking Archbishop Bryan J. McEntegart to buy 50,000 copies and distribute them throughout the diocese in schools, churches and Catholic organizations.

"Wherever you are, it's constantly talked about," said James Hepburn, an 18-year-old Negro senior in a Brooklyn public high school. "Quite a few of the kids haven't read it, but they're all looking forward to it."

Hepburn's economics and psychology teachers assigned the book as source material for class discussions on whether teen-agers are more prejudiced now than before the riots.

Detroit Catholic Archbishop John F. Dearden said last week the National Council of Catholic Bishops has instructed its Social Action Department to draft a series of positive proposals as a response to the report.

The United Presbyterian Church's Office of Church and Society bought 3,000 copies to send to pastors and all members working in urban affairs.

Bantam said the executive vice chairman of the National Alliance of Businessmen, based in Washington, D.C., ordered copies sent to all members of his executive board.

The Chicago Board of Education put it to immediate use in four classes for in-service teachers, Bantam said.

The residents who buy them, mostly Negroes, many on welfare, are in turn urged to sell them again. Negro mothers have sold copies to policemen, to teachers leaving public schools, and to small homeowners.

Why? Because, said one man involved in the project, "A woman knows from reading the summary in the newspapers that it says what she wants to have said—that the white community's serious leaders now admit to the thing black people thought they were alone in saying, that there is a white racist society."

"She immediately wants to say to other people, will you at least consider acknowledging this so we can start from the same set of facts?"

Shoe Store Ownership Changes

Dan Blades of Rolla has purchased the B and B Shoe Store, 226 South Ohio, from Jim Bloemker, Springfield, who has owned it for the past 17 years. Blades owns a shoe store in Missouri as the most unique shoe store, and the store in Sedalia will be on the same design.

Manager of the store will be Ben Gifford, Rolla, who has moved to Sedalia and has a trailer house on South Grand. With him are his wife, Lavon, a son, Rocky, eight and a daughter, Anjanette, three.

Blades will also keep the two employees who have been in the B and B Shoe store for many years, Otto Decker and Gordon Reiniger.

Plans are being made for the liquidation sale starting Thursday, March 28, after which the complete remodeling will be done and a number of new ideas will be inaugurated.

All of the brands of shoes now in B and B and the shoe store in Rolla will be stocked in the new store, which will have quality merchandise at medium prices for men, women and children. There will be fashion shoes of all types with youthful shoes being a feature.

This store will specialize in fitting corrective shoes and will work with doctors to make certain that the shoes are exactly right.

Particular attention will be given to the fitting of children's shoes, too, Gifford said, for it is very important that children's shoes are fitted correctly. A guarantee will be given for all children's shoes sold.

When the store opens after the remodeling there will be an entire new stock of merchandise.

Lense Meets Candidates

NEW YORK (AP) — Every four years television participates in a ratings race with the highest stakes of all—the White House.

More than a mere eyewitness, more than a mere conveyor of campaign sights and sounds, television plays an active role in the selection of the occupant.

Since 1952 television has been the means by which the voter gets a close-up view of the candidate and sees him at work, at ease, under stress, off guard and in moments of triumph and defeat.

"If I were a political candidate I would go at television very cautiously," said NBC News broadcaster Chet Huntley. "I have a feeling this is where you reveal your soul. That lens has a way of getting at you."

Persons who have worked with candidates in the medium believe that the image and impressions the voter forms of the candidates on television will be a major factor—possibly the major factor—in determining how he will cast his ballot for president on Nov. 5.

A political campaign on television is a mixed bag of journalism, show business and Madison Avenue hucksterism.

It takes between $10 million and $15 million to mount a campaign for president, and a very large percentage of that goes for time on television.

James C. Hagerty, press secretary for President Dwight D. Eisenhower and now a vice president of the American Broadcasting Companies, took note of this amount at a recent symposium at Columbia University and said, "This is getting ridiculous."

"I think we will have to go eventually to the British system under which time would have to be given by the networks to the major candidates for president and vice president."

Purchased television time is swinging away from the half-hour speech format towards the 60-second commercial. In this manner a candidate is marketed like any other product.

One of the most successful uses of the 60-second spot was in Nelson A. Rockefeller's 1966 campaign for re-election as governor of New York. Rockefeller did not appear in any of the commercials, put together by Myron McDonald of Jack Tinker and Partners.

Every candidate tries to make maximum use of that biggest television bandwagon of all, the evening news programs. First of all, he can reach millions of persons unburdened by television's prohibitive costs and the red tape of getting air clearance. And, in addition, it has a built-in credibility not always found in paid broadcasts.

But those in television news are inclined to minimize its persuasive powers.

"We take a slice of the candidate out on the campaign trail," said Huntley. "I don't concede for a minute that we are engaged in the business in television news that we may win or lose an election for a candidate. By the time a campaign is over, we've shown him in all attitudes, all phases, all circumstances."

In the final analysis, any candidate for president is going to have to make sense, get in a dialogue with the American people, appeal to their intelligence and, indeed, some of their emotions."

Gene Wyckoff, an independent who has prepared television programs for such Republicans as Richard M. Nixon, Rockefeller and Henry Cabot Lodge, says the country has moved into an era of the image candidate, in which the candidate "is a leading character in a political drama presented by television before an election."

Wyckoff said the way a candidate looks and the way he reports himself is what sticks in the viewer's mind and forms the image—and that what he says has very little to do with it.

In an interview, he said the Republican candidate "if he does nothing to injure himself, will have no trouble whatsoever taking on Johnson on an image basis."

"You see, usually between the major effective candidates, meaning candidates for the major parties, it's very hard for the public to tell the difference between them on issues. That's why it tends to come down to images."

Wyckoff said that although former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama was an effective television campaigner, he did not consider him an image candidate. "Wallace is an issue appeal," he said.

Concerning the fight for the Democratic nomination, Wyckoff said Sen. Robert F. Kennedy "has got the powerful organization and the people who can turn out the image commercials."

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, he said, "just doesn't have them and can't afford them."

Theodore C. Sorensen, a special adviser to President John

F. Kennedy, said on the Public Broadcast Laboratory, "I must say that I am not too concerned about the image makers taking over presidential politics. . . . I am not persuaded that the American people are going to elect a president on the basis of hucksterism and ham."

Television, as much as the jet age, has changed the character of the campaign. A candidate can make speeches at widely separated cities in one day, have the highlights shown on the evening news shows, then address the entire nation in a paid broadcast. And all the while carefully prepared 60-second commercials push his candidacy.

Platform flamboyance and oratorical embellishments have all but gone the way of the whistle-stop tour. "Politicians have scaled down their approach to fit the intimacy of small groups in the living room," said CBS News broadcaster Walter C. Cronkite.

Campaign managers are learning, too, that you can't simply turn the cameras on the candidate at a rally. One campaign expert called that "radio with a light to read by."

The use of television certainly is not without its perils, as Nixon learned in his debate in 1960 with John F. Kennedy. Wyckoff contends that many people still retain an unfavorable image of Nixon.

Another possible candidate who has not always been treated kindly by television's harsh eye is President Johnson. "I think that's because he hasn't yet found a way to be natural on television," Cronkite said. "His every television performance is still that—a performance."

Says advertising man McDonald: "I think the major piece of misinformation in the unsophisticated use of television is that, at least, it can do no harm. Well, nothing can be further from the truth. You can do as much damage on television as you can good."

Serving Games Profits Area PTA Members

Clarksburg PTA met Tuesday evening at the school with Mrs. Patty Toler, president, calling the meeting to order. Mrs. Nellie Marie Hodges gave the devotional. Mrs. Ima Jean Hodges read the minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. Dorothy Dahlstein gave the treasurer's report and Mrs. Hartley Sappington, membership chairman, reported that the PTA now has 52 members. Mrs. Hodges reported on the money cleared by serving food at ball games.

The following officers were elected by the membership committee: Mrs. Jack D. Toler, president; Mrs. Richard Rodel, vice president; Mrs. Henry Hodges, secretary; Mrs. William Dahlstein, treasurer.

Following the business everyone moved to the gymnasium for a program by the first, second and third grades and their teachers, Mrs. Leonard Martin and Mrs. Hartley Sappington.

Soviet Naval Buildup In Indian Ocean Observed

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. naval strategists are expressing concern that an impending visit by Soviet warships to Indian ports may be a first move toward a Soviet penetration of the vital Indian Ocean area.

The United States keeps no Navy vessels in the Indian Ocean and U.S. admirals and diplomats fear the planned British pull-out east of Suez will leave a vacuum into which the Soviets may step.

Naval strategists say this would be a further extension of Soviet naval power which Moscow has been sending far and wide in the last few years.

A 19,000-ton Soviet cruiser of the Sverdlov class and two guided-missile destroyers are due to drop anchor at Madras and Bombay late this month and early in April.

The visit appears to underscore a closer relationship between the Indian and Soviet navies and greater cooperation between the two countries.

Pentagon sources said they believed the three warship cruises into the Indian Ocean were arranged last month when Adm. S. G. Gorshkov, Soviet fleet commander in chief, visited India.

Some four years ago, when the U.S. Navy sent a five-ship carrier squadron into the Indian Ocean area on a "show-the-flag" and good-will voyage, the Indian government acted suspicious of U.S. motives, as did the government of Ceylon.

The American squadron, which spent six weeks in the Indian Ocean, visited a number of African and Middle Eastern ports but did not stop in India.

U.S. naval spokesmen have been indicating deep alarm at the ever-spreading Soviet fleet operations.

Since the Arab-Israeli war last June, a Soviet force of more than 35 ships and submarines has maintained a presence in the Mediterranean, using

Flower Shop Opens New Garden Room

The Garden Room has been opened by the Pfeiffer Flower Shop, 510 South Ohio, in the basement of the building. Here may be found all types of items for the garden statuary, sundials, white wrought iron furniture and soon there will be trellises and arbors.

The walls of the Garden Room are white with small rocks covering the areas along the walk. Permanent trees of various kinds are everywhere, as well as flower boxes, hanging baskets and flowering vines.

Not yet completed is the grc to which will have stained glass windows, and here will be the statue of Saint Francis.

In the Garden Room, too, is a corner with Japanese statuary for the Japanese gardens so popular today, and single and double fountains.

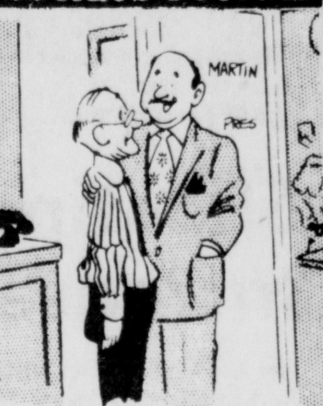

The small rocks of all colors may be found here, and each day more and more things seem to be arriving, for it is not quite ready as yet but has been opened for the displays on hand. It is a place of real beauty.

Injuries Darken S-H Track Hopes

For the second time this year injuries have darkened the horizon on a possible State Class "S" Indoor Track Championship for the Gremlins of Sacred Heart.

With four minutes and 23 seconds left to be played in the Gremlins' basketball season, injury beset Junior Tim Hogan, who specialized in winning 880 yd. runs and teaming up with brother Martin for relay victories.

Shooting Accuracy Increases Yearly

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer Hank Luisetti of Stanford really started something when he made the one-hand shot nationally popular more than 30 years ago.

Shooting accuracy has been rising ever since. The only question is — will it ever stop?

The Big Eight set another record for accuracy this season. All teams in all games hit .441 from the field. Last year it was .434, in 1966 it was .324 and in 1965 it was .415.

Five teams shot better than the league's over-all .441 and all five set a school record.

Oklahoma State's .477 was a new conference record for all games and Oklahoma's .476 also broke the old mark of .474 by Colorado last year. Kansas at .456, Nebraska .452 and Missouri .447 each set school records. Kansas could move no higher than .470 even by shooting 70 per cent its last two games of the NIT in New York.

Kansas State's league champions often were referred to as a poor-shooting club, but only three teams in K-State history shot better than its .422. The school mark is .441 by the 1964 league champs.

Colorado was seventh at .417 and Iowa State last with .400. By comparison, Kansas won the NCAA and landed seven men on the Olympic team with a .393-shooting club in 1952.

At the free throw line, Nebraska's .765 may lead the nation when all the final figures come in after the NCAA tournament. The Huskers are second on the all-time Big Eight list to the .791 by Oklahoma State which led the nation in 1958 — OSU's first year of membership.

The entire league was .684 at the line, second only to the .696 in '67.

Iowa State's Don Smith, who who scored 76 more points in three years than the legendary Luisetti scored in four seasons, led the league's all-games figures in scoring at 24.2 and rebounding at 14.6.

Oklahoma's Don Sidle was next in scoring at 19.8, with Stu Lantz of Nebraska at 19.2, Pat Frink of Colorado 18.9, Gene Jones of Missouri 18.7, Tom Baack of Nebraska 18.6 and Chuck Williams of Colorado 18.0.

In rebounding, Jones had a 10.7 average, Gene Williams of K-State 10.1, Sidle 10.0 and Oklahoma's Garfield Heard 9.6. Sidle was the field shooting accuracy champ at .589 and OSU's Joe Smith the champ at the line with .841. Sidle broke the league all-game mark of .560 by Tom Russell of Nebraska in 1962.

Sidle's 539 career field shooting mark for 76 games also is a record, breaking Russell's .525. Rodger Bohnenstiel of Kansas has 521 with two games left and can't catch Sidle.

Nebraska's Baack finished his career with an .832 free throw mark, second only to the .855 by OSU's Arlen Clark in 1958-59 his school's first two years in the league. Jack Herron of OSU finished with a .814 career mark, placing him fourth behind OU's Jim Johnson.

Ashford Announces Retirement

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP) — Volney C. Ashford, who sometimes described himself as a "shouting Methodist" in a Presbyterian school, has closed out one of the most successful small college football coaching careers.

The 59-year-old Ashford announced his retirement Thursday after 30 years as coach at Missouri Valley where his teams won 197, lost 55 and tied 12. During that span, the Vikings also appeared in nine post-season bowl games. Ashford was sidelined early last fall by a heart attack.

Kenneth B. Gibler, who played four years as an end on Ashford-coached teams, will take over the reins Aug. 1. Gibler was graduated from Missouri Valley in 1957 and has been at Northern Arizona University, first as line coach in 1962 and head coach since 1965.

Ashford will remain at Missouri Valley as vice president and athletic director.

A former president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, he had served as a member of the executive committee of the Amateur Athletic Union and on the National Association of Athletic Directors.

A single-wing disciple, Ashford once turned down a chance to go to a major university because of a stipulation the T-formation be used.

Yesterday, on the eve of the state meet two more Grems came up lame and are listed as questionable runners today.

Pat Crim, who qualified in both the high and low hurdles, came up with a swollen ankle, while freshman speedster David Kemp limped to the training table and with him hopes dimmed for the chances of the two relay teams which he has played such a big part in keeping undefeated in six outings.

The 5-1 Sacred Heart Gremlins still have ready for championship competition seven other qualifiers.

Martin Hogan, who anchors both relay teams will have a busy day, as he'll vie for honors also in the broad jump, his best performance a 20'1 1/2" leap; the high jump, where he has marked at 5'8"; and the 60-yd. dash, in which he has tested the clocks at :06.8 seconds this year already.

Two sophomores will carry the load now on the relays: Edward Gonser will be number two man in both, while James Wanserski will hold down the third spot on the half-mile and mile relays.

Dashing around the 220-yd oval at Brewer Field House on the University of Missouri Campus in the 880 yd. half-mile run will be once-defeated William Heer.

Senior John Fischer will be leading off the mile relay effort which has to its credit a 3:51.6 run last week at Malta Bend.

Of the 37 teams entered in the meet, Coach Koerner's cindermen have the highest number of entries in the meet. Preliminaries get underway at noon, with the finals for the Class "S" Title beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Con Rees

Con Rees Winner Of Scholarship Award

Conwy "Con" Rees, son of Coach and Mrs. Dick Rees formerly of Sedalia and now of Castle Rock, Colo., has been named recipient of a 1968 scholarship award sponsored by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. He is a student at the University of Missouri.

"Con", as he is better known to his many friends in Sedalia, was an all-star athlete at Smith-Cotton high school before entering the University. At the University he is an offensive center for the football team.

The award is given annually to the chemical engineering student in the College of Engineering at Columbia "who has made the highest scholarship record during his freshman and sophomore years and shows the greatest promise of succeeding in his profession."

Rees, a junior, has a cumulative grade point average of 3.586 of a possible 4.0. Equally competitive on the football field, he was cited last season by the Missouri line coaches for his aggressive blocking of Granville Liggins, All-American middle guard for the University of Oklahoma.

The A.I.Ch.E. award, which includes a scroll and check for $125, will be made tonight at an honors and awards banquet to be held at the University of Missouri.

Rees graduated from Smith-Cotton in 1965.

Favorable Turn May Add Luster To Good Race

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Favorable Turn will try to add luster to an already successful Florida campaign; Clever Foot will seek his fifth straight stakes victory, and Tobin Bronze will return to the grass.

What develops for these three thoroughbreds should make the racing headlines Saturday.

Favorable Turn, the winter handicap star in Florida, heads a field of nine named for the 1 1/4-mile, $126,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap.

Clever Foot, who won a stakes in his juvenile finale and then scored in three straight in his only starts as a 3-year-old, has been assigned top weight of 124 pounds for the seven-furlong, $25,000-added Bay Shore at Aqueduct.

Tobin Bronze, the 6-year-old American-owned champion from Australia, is slated to contest the $50,000-added San Luis Rey Handicap over 1 1/2 miles on the grass at Santa Anita after two dismal performances in stakes on the dirt.

Killebrew Puts an End To Twins' Losing Streak

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

The Killer murdered Minnesota's exhibition baseball losing streak.

Harmon "Killer" Killebrew took personal charge of ending the seven-game string of losses Thursday when he hammered two home runs and led Minnesota to a 7-6 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Killebrew's second shot broke a 6-6 tie in the bottom of the eighth inning as the Twins won their third game in 12 spring starts, Los Angeles is 5-7.

In other games, St. Louis blanked Pittsburgh 4-0, Atlanta shut out Philadelphia 7-0, Detroit stopped Cincinnati 3-0, Oakland edged the Chicago White Sox 5-4 and Washington nipped the New York Mets 2-1.

Also Houston hammered Boston 11-1, the New York Yankees edged the Mexico City Tigers 5-4, San Francisco battered Cleveland 14-3 and the Chicago Cubs blanked California 1-0.

Killebrew, who tied Carl Yastrzemski for the American League lead in homers last year with 44, cracked a three-run homer in the first inning and then won it with his second shot in the eighth.

Tony Oliva had an inside-the-park homer for the Twins and Zoilo Versalles, traded by Minnesota to Los Angeles during the winter, homered for the Dodgers.

Orlando Cepeda, the National League's Most Valuable Player last season, had another big day for the Cardinals. The big first baseman hammered a home run and a double against Pittsburgh and lifted his spring average to .400 in 12 hits in 30 at bats.

Jim Bunning took most of the punishment as the Cards won their 10th game in 12 spring starts. Cepeda in his last six at bats has had a single, two doubles and two homers.

The Washington Senators maintained a perfect record against National League opponents, making the Mets their fifth straight victims. Sam Bowens homered for Washington and Ron Swoboda connected for New York.

Atlanta's Dick Kelley threw five perfect innings as the Braves battered Philadelphia. Two of the three Phillie hits came in the ninth inning against reliever Clay Carroll. Sonny Jackson drove in three runs with a pair of singles for the Braves.

Andy Kosco cracked a three-run homer that brought New York from behind in the eighth inning and propelled the Yankees to their victory over the Mexico City Tigers.

The Cubs pushed across an unearned run in the fifth inning and shutout pitching by Rich Nye and Gary Ross protected it for the victory over California. Nye allowed just four hits in six innings and Ross gave two in the final three innings.

Juan Marichal worked seven innings and contributed a double to an eight-run San Francisco rally in the fourth inning as the Giants belted the Indians. Marichal allowed six hits—one a homer by Lee Maye.

Jim Wynn, Hector Torres, and Ivan Murrell cracked home runs leading a 16-hit Houston attack that carried the Astros past Boston. It was Houston's sixth straight victory.

Danny Cater tagged two home runs and Sal Bando hit his seventh of the spring as Oakland

Question Mark For The 76ers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer

Wilt Chamberlain, who usually comes through as a giant exclamation point in Philadelphia victories, was a huge question mark as the 76ers prepared to open defense of their National Basketball Association championship tonight.

The 7-foot-1 center, who led the NBA in rebounds and assists and finished third in scoring, was in pain at practice Thursday and was first thought to have broken the big toe on his right foot in Wednesday night's regular season finale against Baltimore.

But X-rays showed no break and the NBA's all-time leading scorer was expected to start against the third-place New York Knicks, possibly with the help of a pain-killing injection.

The Knicks and the San Francisco Warriors are the underdogs in tonight's first two playoff games.

The Knicks and Eastern champion 76ers go to it in Convention Hall, one of two courts the vagabond Philadelphians will call home until their wind-damaged Spectrum is ready. Injury-riddled San Francisco, which fell to third after 6-11 Nate Thurmond broke a bone in his foot, takes on the Western champion Hawks in St. Louis.

The series between the second and fourth-place finishers get under way Sunday in Boston and Los Angeles. The Celtics face the Detroit Pistons in a nationally televised afternoon contest while the Lakers oppose the Chicago Bulls in a night game.

All playoff series are best-of-seven.

Know Way to 'Revive' Fading Autographs?

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I am an autograph hound and the names of those who have signed my book are fading. I wonder if any reader has a solution for this.—MISS J. R. G.

DEAR POLLY—I keep a clean pair of cotton work gloves handy in the kitchen to use when handling frozen food packages. They prevent that "frozen fingers" feeling very successfully.—MRS. P. E. B.

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Mrs. D. M. who wanted to know how to shorten a wool sweater. Most sweaters are knitted from the bottom up and this applies to the sleeves as well as the body of the sweater. When so knitted they can be raveled from the top only but can be safely cut off at the bottom with the scissors just as if cutting a piece of yard goods. After cutting, place stitches around bottom of sweater on knitting needles and reknit the ribbing or just bind off, if desired. This work can be done with yarn obtained by raveling the cut-off piece. If one cannot knit, a hem can be safely sewed in in any width. I cut six inches off an Angora cardigan and reknit a one-inch hem (knit each row) and it looked the same as when purchased.—MARIE

DEAR GIRLS—I would only attempt this raveling and reknitting on a handmade sweater which, I presume, Marie's was. Closely woven, machine-made sweaters will take to machine stitching as I have written previously.

Make a row of stitching just above where the cutting line is to be so no stitches will "run" when you cut. Next turn up the desired hem which can be machine- or hand-stitched into place. Personally, I like a hem at the bottom better than ribbing which has a tendency to make a sweater "cup" in around the hip line instead of falling in a straighter and bit more flattering line.—POLLY

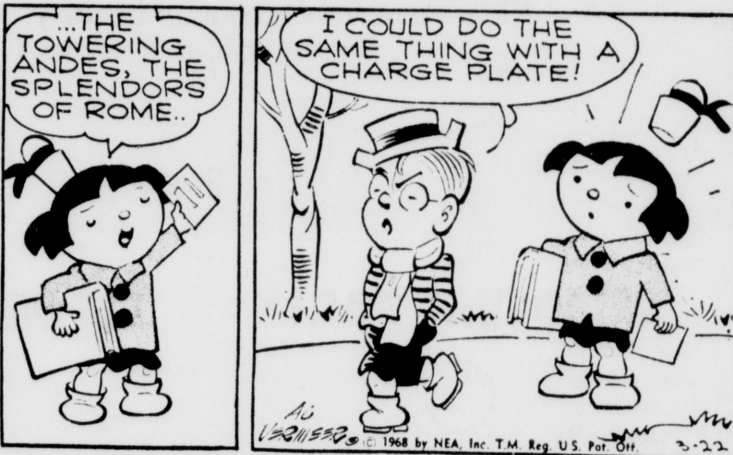

DEAR POLLY—I always hem white dish towels with colored thread so it is easier to find the edges in the washer or clothes basket. This speeds up putting them through the wringer or folding them as they are taken from the dryer.—MRS. R. H.

OPAL O'BRIANT

Extension Home Economist

The seventh annual observance of National Poison Prevention Week is observed in Missouri in March.

Poison Prevention Week is the third week in March — this year it is March 17-23. It is designed to call attention to the dangers of poisons in and around the home. Last year, over 400 children died as a result of eating or drinking common household products. Adults are also often victims of poisoning from solids, liquids, gasses, and vapors.

The principal cause of most poisonings, whether of adults or children, is misuse of medicines and household chemicals. Although few adults would drink bleach, kerosene, and other household products, they frequently do use these products without adequate knowledge of their hazards or without reading the labels.

In these instances, they may be exposed to toxic vapors given off by certain products, receive severe burns, suffer allergic reactions or skin irritations. Self-medication, poor eyesight, and ignorance about drugs may be other factors in accidental medication poisoning of adults.

Here are a few rules for "poison-proofing" the home:

1. Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of children, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet. When using a potentially dangerous product and you must leave the room, if for only an instant, remove the container to a safe spot.

2. Store medicines separately from other household products and keep these items in their original containers — never in cups or soft-drink bottles.

3. Be sure that all products are properly labeled, and read the label before using. Read the medicine label three times. Read when you take it from the medicine cabinet; read again before you measure the dose, and read again before taking the medicine.

4. Always turn the light on when giving or taking medicine.

5. Since children tend to imitate adults, avoid taking medicines in their presence.

6. Refer to medicines by their proper names. They are not candies.

7. Clean out your medicine cabinet periodically. Get rid of old medicines by flushing them down the drain, rinsing the container in water, and then discarding it.

8. Do everything you can to prevent a tragedy by poisoning. But be prepared for the emergency by having the telephone number of your doctor, the hospital and police on a card near your telephone.

9. Contact your County Extension Center and ask for Telephone Card MP55. This provides space for emergency telephone numbers. Fill this card out and keep near the telephone. Remember valuable moments can be wasted looking for the telephone number of someone to help you.

Your County University Extension Center can also give you additional material on Emergency Preparedness.

Coffee Making
Coffee beans are purchased by various companies and shipped to their roasters where they're blended, roasted and packaged.

All coffee at the retail level is a blend of various type beans.

In general, it would be pretty hard for any one of us to tell one brand from another if we tasted the coffee only, and didn't see the can from which it came. Most retail brands are rather similar. If you wish to tell how coffee will taste, of any brand, smell it. Coffee, if brewed properly, tastes like it smells.

Not even coffee manufacturers know how coffee is decaffeinated. The secret is the property of the European scientist who developed the process. So, when a company wishes to sell decaffeinated coffee, it must ship the coffee to Europe and pay to have it decaffeinated before it is sent back here for blending, roasting and packaging.

With proper brewing, you can make a good cup of coffee from most any blend or brand. By the same token, you can ruin coffee from the finest, most expensive blend by improper brewing.

The strength of coffee is regulated by the ratio of coffee to water. Flavor of coffee is determined by the skill used in brewing. Price of the coffee pot has no influence on quality of the brew.

The purpose for brewing or cooking coffee is to extract that delicious coffee flavor and aroma from the ground coffee. Most of us don't realize that for every bit of good flavor in that coffee there's an equal amount of foul, acrid, bitter flavor. Lucky for us, the good flavor comes out first — in six to eight minutes.

Only when the grounds are exposed to additional cooking or steaming for longer periods of time, does the bad flavor develop. So — the rule is — cook the coffee the exact amount of time, then remove the grounds. Keep coffee hot, if need be, for a limited time, but without the grounds.

Most electric percolators have an automatic warming device which keeps grounds drenched with steam 'til the pot is empty. Try this — after the percolator has been plugged in for a time to keep coffee warm, remove the basket of grounds and place on a saucer. Let the moisture seep out of it and taste it! Any coffee is reheatable, but you'll be most happy if you remove the grounds first.

Use the ground coffee for the method of brewing you plan to use. Brew by the time clock. Keep the pot immaculately clean.

Cleaning Coffee Makers

If you are fastidious about your coffee, you will have to be fastidious about your coffee maker. If it is not kept scrupulously clean, traces of oil that remain in it will grow rancid and give the coffee a bitter taste.

If yours is an electric percolator, wash the removable pieces with sudsy water, scald and dry. Wash the inside with warm soapy water after each use. Rinse with clear hot water and dry. Wipe the outside with a cloth wrung out of soapy water, being careful not to wet the heating element. Wipe with a cloth wrung out of clear water and polish with a clean, soft cloth. Always disconnect your electric percolator immediately after use. Do not immerse the heating element unless it is water-sealed. After cleaning, leave it unassembled in the sun and air. The spouts and tubes of percolators require special attention at least once a week. Using a percolator brush, made especially for this job, clean these parts carefully with soap and water. Rinse with hot water.

Metal percolators (except those made of aluminum) benefit by being "perked" occasionally with water to which a teaspoonful of baking soda (sodium bicarbonate) has been added. "Perk" for several minutes, then rinse with hot water. This treatment will remove traces of oil that may have been absorbed by the metal.

If you use a glass coffee maker employing a cloth filter, rinse the filter thoroughly with cold water after using and keep it in a glass of cold water. Glass rods are available for this type of coffee maker and are much more sanitary.

Student is Cast In College Play

Richard Ash, a sophomore at Central Missouri State College, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Ash, Route 2, Versailles, has been cast as Charles Lomax in the college's spring production of "Major Barbara."

The Benard Shaw play, set at the beginning of the twentieth century, deals with the conflict between Barbara, an idealistic young major in the Salvation Army, and her practical, hard-boiled, munitions-making father.

Dr. Arthur Tees, assistant professor of speech, is directing the play, scheduled for production April 17, 18, and 19.

Welcome Wagon Elects Officers

Future Of Plane Is Uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower says the fate of the F111B-Navy version of the controversial TFX warplane will hinge on tests of the Swing-wing interceptor on aircraft carriers during April.

The Texas Republican, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, disagreed with reports the panel has all but decided even before the carrier tests to deny the Navy's request for $350 million to construct 30 F111Bs.

Tower instead said he thinks the "committee position is fluid right now."

The panel begins today considering the massive Navy procurement request, which includes the proposed F111B authorization.

Pentagon sources, in predicting earlier that the committee would ditch the plane, said the action could come even before Navy engineers report next month on four contractor proposals to replace the F111B.

These sources said airborne maneuverability — rather than its ability to take off and land on carriers — is the main problem dogging the F111B. It reportedly weighs about 80,000 pounds, or about 20,000 more than Navy officials would prefer.

Two admirals testified at a recent hearing that had funds not already been spent on the F111B, they would recommend development of an entirely different plane.

The development of the F111 has been enmeshed in a political hotbed ever since former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara overruled the military and awarded the TFX contract to General Dynamics rather than to Boeing.

The first F111A fleet now is in Thailand, awaiting assignment in Vietnam. Air Force officials generally have praised the plane's performance.

The 30 F111Bs for the Navy would be built by Grumman Corp. at Long Island, N.Y., instead of by General Dynamics of Fort Worth, Texas. General Dynamics built the Air Force model.

In the past the Armed Services Committee has attempted to get its bill in shape for floor action by summer.

Welcome Wagon Holds Luncheon

A Welcome Wagon luncheon was held at the Flat Creek Inn on Tuesday, March 19, with 50 in attendance.

Mrs. Fran Branson, owner of the Sedalia School of Beauty, gave a demonstration on the new trend in hair styling.

The installation of new officers for the year followed: April Austwick, president; Joyce Wiltz, vice president; Judy Homan, secretary; Mary Gunn, treasurer. Gifts were then presented to the outgoing officers.

Chairman announced were as follows: Chaplain, Jo Heinz; hospitality, Judy Walthus; head hostess, Sally Melvin; cheer chairman, Sandy Mayfield; card girl, Joan Banion; program chairman, Nadene Lewis; ways and means, Joyce Magathan; coffee chairman, Edie Conway; publicity, Betty Miller; historian, Barbara Clark; social, Donna Kempker; yearbook chairman, Jean Allen.

Valuable Coin Placed in Meter

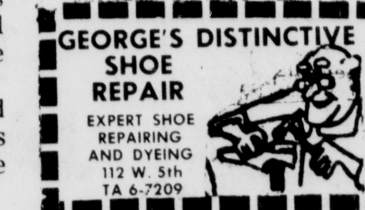

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Ever put too much money in a parking meter or put in change and had nothing happen? Then you'll appreciate the plight of John Cayton, 13.

John took a penny from his mother to put in the meter in front of a coin shop where he was going to let an expert look at his prize 1873 Arrows-type dime.

You guessed it. Subsequently, for the first time in memory of Santa Monica meter collectors, a patron actually demanded his money back. The request filtered up Wednesday to city Treasurer Kay Watanabe and was granted.

The youth, elated at the recovery and also tardy for school, rushed off with the dime — which the coin expert said in quick glance could be worth $150 or more.

Explorer I, the first U. S. satellite, recently passed its 10th year in orbit. The craft has logged more than one and one-third billion miles.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Last night we went to a dinner party at the home of new friends. There were five couples present and two big dogs.

During cocktails the dogs roamed the living room, sniffing the guests and occasionally snatching a small frankfurter from the hors d'oeuvre tray. The hostess saw all this and never said a word.

When dinner was served the dogs came right into the dining room and then the battle started. They poked their heads under our arms trying to get at the roast beef. They yelped and cried and we couldn't even carry on a conversation. The host waved the bigger dog away when he nearly snatched the meat off my plate. His wife said meekly, "Jim, perhaps you should take the dogs out?" He answered, "No, they'd feel hurt."

I looked at my husband and he was furious. The host sensed our feelings and said, in jest (but I'm sure he meant it), "Anyone who doesn't like dogs is not to be trusted."

Please print this letter and your opinion. — DOG GONED

Dear Goned: I hope you and your husband never get so hungry that you will accept another invitation at that kennel. The host and hostess were unbelievably inconsiderate of their guests and I am unable to say a single word in their defense.

Dear Ann Landers: I divorced a dull but decent man for Mr. K. and gave up my young son to do it. Mr. K. promised to divorce his wife "when the time was right." In the meantime, he spent weekends with me, we took trips together, he introduced me to his business associates in other cities as "Mrs. K." and gave me open charge accounts all over town. This man was the center of my existence for four and a half years.

Last week he informed me that it's all over. He gave no reason. Just over. He has removed all his belongings from my apartment and, from what I gather, he is at home full time.

What are my rights in court? Surely I have something coming for my time and trouble. Advise, please. — THE REJECT

Dear Re: I agree — you have something coming, and it sounds like you are getting it.

Since I am not a lawyer I cannot inform you of your "rights." I can say a few words about your wrongs, however. You made a bad bargain from the beginning and I am sorry for you. Regardless of what you might be able to squeeze out of this man, you are still the big loser. But this is how such affairs usually end. It's par for the course, Honey.

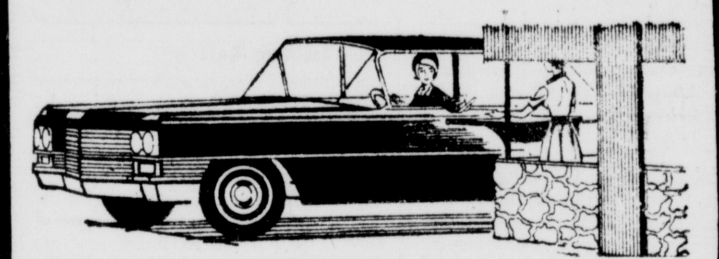

Confidential to Aggravated Wife Who Wants to Help: If you REALLY want to help, try keeping your nose out of your husband's business. I do not agree that he is a shnook. He may have all the brains but his partner is contributing a vital ingredient. Money.

What's In A Name? Everything

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The softspoken soldier from Flatwoods, Ky., has been baiting officers for 14 years and there's not a thing they can do about it — except maybe to go along with the fun.

Take the other day for example. A general—the kind with a gruff, imperious voice—called from the Pentagon. When the telephone was answered, a voice with a maddeningly pleasant drawl said:

"1st Army Flight Detachment. Sgt. Sergeant speaking."

There was a pause and then, "Don't stutter soldier!"

Then, for the humpteenth time, Sgt. Sergeant explained the phonetics of his name to the general, with all due deference, of course.

"I had a lot of fun when I was Pvt. Sergeant, too," said Sergeant, whose full title is M.Sgt. Elwood Sergeant.

The Army career man recalled with considerable glee the time the commanding officer was reviewing the troops and he stopped in front of him. When he heard the words "Pvt. Sergeant" in response to a question he nodded, walked one step to the next man and then did a Hollywood double-take, stepping back again.

"What was that, soldier?" he asked.

Sgt. Sergeant patiently explained the phonetic again, even going so far as to allow how Flatwoods, Ky., was full of Sergeants.

"I never did know it was an unusual name until I joined the Army," said Sergeant, who is 35.

Once, when he was stationed on the West Coast, his job was in an area of high density air traffic. His radio voice was soon familiar to pilots up and down the coast, he said, because they remembered the soft drawl belonged to Sgt. Sergeant.

"I'll tell you, I really get tangled up on the telephone sometime," said Sergeant. "The other night I had to call the West Coast and the operator broke up laughing and could hardly place the call."

But, as with all men, Sgt. Sergeant had to get his come up-pance. He walked into a building a few years ago when he was stationed in Vietnam and

Eagleton Appoints Campaign Leaders

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton today named campaign chairmen for 10 counties in his drive to win nomination for U.S. senator on the Democratic ticket. The counties and those named:

introduced himself to a major with whom he was supposed to work, in Lai Khe.

"Sgt. Sergeant reporting for duty, sir," he said.

"I'm Maj. Major," said the officer.

"You know," said Sergeant, relating the incident. "That was actually his name."

Now Sgt. Sergeant is looking forward to his next rank, which he expects to make in about five years: sergeant major.

Then, should he ever meet Maj. Major again he can say:

"Maj. Major, Sgt. Maj. Sergeant."

Student Forces Swell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rebellious students swelled their occupation forces in the administration building of predominantly Negro Howard University Thursday as school operations remained halted.

Other students held their ground in school dormitories in defiance of a warning by school officials that those buildings would be cleared out Saturday if the uprising didn't end. The students said they wouldn't move.

Officials of the federally supported university could not be found. They issued no statement beyond one Wednesday announcing that the school was closed.

Justice Department officials conferred with university officials, but there was no indication of contemplated action.

The confrontation appeared to have become a waiting game.

Students are demanding that charges be dropped in the cases of about 25 students charged with taking part in a Charter Day disturbance on the campus March 1.

But many of the students interviewed say they're holding out for a long list of other demands. Summarizing the students' complaints, the university Student Council president Ewart Brown, said:

"We want Howard University to begin to relate to the black community the way Harvard and MIT ... relate to the white community."

The chairman of the university's board of trustees, Lorimer D. Milton, said he does not know when the institution will reopen.

Can Expended Funds For Agencies

In an opinion issued Thursday by Attorney General Norman Anderson, "Missouri Counties may expend funds to provide quarters for community action agencies which operate under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act." The opinion was issued in response to an inquiry by State Senator William B. Waters.

According to Hardy Cobb, the director of the Mid-Missouri Community Action Corp., which covers Pettis, Benton, Johnson and Morgan counties, the County Courts may now provide funds or office space for anti-poverty agencies.

Gordon Crow, Deputy Director of the State Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) in Jefferson City said the opinion was issued following a verbal opinion two years ago by Anderson when eight or nine counties had contributed to the Central Missouri Counties Human Development Corporation of Columbia. Crow said the opinion "gave approval to counties to contribute cash as part of their non-federal share required in OEO programs."

Jaycees' Plan TV Show For Local Center

The Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a "TV Days" program on KMOStv from 4 to 6 p.m. Saturday featuring all local talent for the benefit of the Children's Therapy Center at Bothwell Hospital.

The program will feature the Smith-Cotton High School stage band, a triple trio from the junior high school, and various dancing, singing, and comedy routines.

Fred Davis, president of the Junior College and Bill Hopkins, president of the Junior College Board of Directors, will talk on the school and a representative from the Sedalia Boys Club will explain the club and its activities.

The commercials on the two-hour program will be done by members of the Jaycees.

Accident Victim Transferred to KC

Frank L. Griffin, 47, Smithton, who was critically injured Wednesday morning in an automobile accident at the junction of Highways 50 and 135, was transferred to Veterans Hospital in Kansas City from the Bothwell Hospital early Thursday.

Griffin, who was reported in critical condition Thursday by the hospital, suffered a broken neck, lacerations, abrasions, and contusions.

Deep In Debris

This tractor, above, is literally up to its knees in debris. But before long the packed debris in the foreground will be under two to three feet of dirt. Scene is Sedalia's new land fill near Beaman. Tractor in the background is opening a new ditch. Bottom photo shows Vernon Ditton, superintendent of the Street and Alley Department, as he opens the gate to the area. The gate is kept closed to prevent other than City trucks from using the fill. (Democrat-Capitol photos.)

City Exercising Tight Control Near Land Fill

Since Sedalia's new land fill was opened on a hilltop near Beaman amid considerable controversy, some complaints have been registered, but an examination of the premises shows everything possible is being done to keep the area neat and odorless.

This week a Democrat-Capitol reporter, along with two City Councilmen, R. N. (Doc) Snavely and Walter Jesse, and Street Superintendent Vernon Ditton, visited the new facility to see exactly how it is being operated.

The area is locked up. Ditton and the drivers of the eight garbage trucks hauling to the fill all have keys, and open the gates only when entering and leaving the area. Private vehicles are not allowed. There is a facility on Benton for the dumping of trash by private citizens.

Inside of the area two tractors keep busy covering some 110 cubic yards of trash hauled in daily. This trash at this time of the year consists of about 90 per cent paper. Ditton said during the summer months this percentage will vary somewhat.

The fill itself is some eight feet deep, with the layers of trash buried two to three feet underground. This layer process is followed until ground level is reached, then the trucks move on to another ditch.

Under new rules no burning is allowed. This has led to objections from residents of other areas where land fill operations have been conducted. Ditton said the trucks are now required to drive down the ditches to dump their loads instead of dumping the load off a ditch bank. This reduces the amount of debris that might be caught by the wind and blown away.

A representative from the Missouri Department of Health has been asked to visit the land fill and make any recommendations needed to improve the facility. He is due this week.

Ditton, Snavely and Jesse all agreed that, "We are going to do everything possible to make this land fill one of the best in the state."

Davis Formally Files For Senate Nomination

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — True Davis of St. Joseph, former assistant secretary of the U.S. Treasury, formally filed Thursday for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

One of his opponents will be his old friend, U.S. Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Bowling Green, whom he strongly supported six years ago.

Accompanying Davis were his widowed mother, Mrs. Helen Davis, his wife Virginia, and his brother, state agriculture commissioner Dexter D. Davis.

Davis said he was neither a "Hawk" or a "Dove" because he believed in staying away from labels for the extremes.

"I am very concerned about the situation in Vietnam and I want it ended as soon as possible. But we must do it with honor."

He said if North Vietnam and the U.S. find a point of agreement on ending the war but South Vietnam refuses to go along, "then we must re-assess the whole situation."

On the domestic front he said "I think we must do something about deficit spending. Deficit financing is all right in times of stress but not as a way of life."

Davis said he believed these are many areas of home front spending on the federal level that can be eliminated. As an example, he said, it should not be the financial burden of the U.S. Department of Agriculture to study whether cranberries can be produced in Texas as well as Wisconsin.

Circuit Judge Is Indicted Thursday

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Circuit Judge John D. Hasler was indicted Thursday by the St. Louis County Grand Jury on a charge of oppression in office.

The indictment came following Judge Hasler's appearance before the jury earlier to answer a subpoena. The jury was investigating his conduct in a divorce case.

Judge Hasler disqualified himself from the case on Feb. 7 and admitted he had written several letters to Mrs. Jean Shelby, now of Poplar Bluff, Mo. He denied any romantic interest.

The divorce action was filed by Delmar Shelby who said he had five letters written to his wife by the judge. He said four letters began with the salutation "dearest."

"The good independent farmer should find out some of these things on his own—use his ingenuity," Davis said.

Davis sidestepped a question whether he favored President Johnson, Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N. Y., or Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I am only interested in one race now," he said, "and I have no comment on any other."

Davis, a former ambassador to Switzerland, is a wealthy businessman. He already has purchased five new station wagons for his campaign force to use.

After flying here to file, he planned to attend a meeting in Joplin Thursday night then fly on to Springfield for the Democratic party's annual Jackson Day gathering Friday and Saturday.

Besides Sen. Long, Davis is opposed for the senatorial nomination by Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton; Dorsey Bass, a Columbia businessman, former State Rep. Lee C. Sutton of Paris, Mo., and William McKinley Thomas of St. Louis, who files regularly for high office in Missouri elections.

Rockefeller Will Not Seek GOP Nomination

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller withdrew Thursday from contention for the Republican nomination for president, thus virtually assuring it for Richard M. Nixon.

"I have decided today to reiterate unequivocally that I am not a candidate campaigning, directly or indirectly, for the presidency of the United States," Rockefeller said in a prepared statement at a news conference.

He left the door open, however, for a draft. He said:

"I have said that I stood ready to answer to any true and meaningful call from the Republican party to serve it and the nation. I still so stand. I would be derelict or uncandid were I to say otherwise."

"I expect no such call. And I shall do nothing in the future, by word or deed, to encourage such a call."

He said he has taken his name off the ballot for the Oregon presidential primary, May 28, filing with the Oregon secretary of state, an affidavit that he is not a candidate.

At the same time, the governor said, he has sent telegrams to the numerous draft-Rockefeller organizations that have formed across the country asking them to halt their efforts on his behalf.

The announcement caused a major political surprise, not least in Oregon, where leaders of the draft Rockefeller committee obviously had no advance word. Only minutes before the governor's announcement, William F. Moshofsky, vice chairman of the committee, prepared a statement saying, "Obviously we are tremendously pleased and excited about Gov. Rockefeller's announced candidacy. ... clearly he is the man of the hour."

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, an ardent Rockefeller booster, said in Salem he was "shocked and dismayed."

Rockefeller appeared utterly calm as he made his announcement to a press conference of between 400 and 500 newsmen, which was televised. Answering questions, he joked and smiled frequently.

In his prepared statement, he set forth four reasons for his decision not to run:

1. He said a considerable majority of GOP leaders want Nixon as the party's candidate for president.

2. He wants to avoid anything that might split the party at a time when, he said, the nation is badly divided.

3. He does not believe "personal combat between two presidential aspirants" would enlighten the nation on the great foreign and domestic issues confronting it.

4. He intends to concentrate on his legislative program for New York and said this "could only be impaired by active campaigning for higher office."

In the reason named first for his withdrawal Rockefeller said in part:

"Quite frankly, I find it clear at this time that a considerable majority of the party's leaders want the candidacy of former Vice President Richard Nixon.

And it appears equally that they are keenly concerned and anxious to avoid any divisive challenge within the party as marked the 1964 campaign. It would therefore be illogical and unreasonable for me to try to arouse their support by pursuing the course of action they would least want and most deplore."

In answer to a question, Rockefeller said he has not discussed his decision with Nixon.

"I will support the Republican nominee," he said, without mentioning Nixon by name.

Rockefeller said he would not accept an offer to be the vice-presidential candidate if Nixon were to offer it to him — as Nixon did in 1960.

Rockefeller had previously indicated that between now and the GOP nominating convention in August he might take the role of a "commentator." He said he might set forth his views on all the major national and international problems of the United States in a series of speeches.

Thursday, he said this is what he intends to do:

Israeli Troops Invade Jordan

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli troops, 15,000 strong by Arab estimate, reported wiping out four El Fatah terrorist bases in an invasion of Jordan Thursday, then fought back homeward under unexpectedly heavy fire.

Jordanian resistance slowed the withdrawal, but the Israeli chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, said late Thursday night that all Israeli forces had returned to the west bank of the Jordan River, the cease-fire line between the two nations. The west bank was seized from Jordan in the Arab-Israeli war of last June 5-10.

Fierce engagements were reported around the Damiya and Allenby bridges between Arab riflemen and Israeli rear-guards, haggard after 14 hours of fighting. Amman radio claimed "the enemy has lost most of the vehicles used in his attack and his forces tried to abandon them."

The pullback, under jet fighter cover, came after the Israeli army said it was certain the alleged terrorist base at Keradan in the Arab-Israeli war of last June 5-10.

The pullback, under jet fighter cover, came after the Israeli army said it was certain the alleged terrorist base at Kera-meh, just inside Jordanian territory, had been neutralized. Bar-Lev reported the raiders also destroyed staging areas at Dahal, Feifa and Safi, from which the Arab guerrillas are accused of launching terrorist attacks for the past six months.

It was Israel's first major thrust into Arab territory since the war of last June and the longest sustained clash since then. The raid on a 200-mile front was officially described in Tel Aviv as a police action.

Bar-Lev said the invasion was not a reprisal raid, "but an attack aimed at destroying Fatah installations in the three major sabotage holdouts."

"We really hoped the Jordanians would take real and effective steps to halt the raids."

The Karamah assault group apparently ran into stiff opposition and was forced to hold their bridge heads longer than planned and were unable to withdraw quickly under heavy Arab fire.

They reportedly held their position to give army recovery units time to get several crippled tanks back across the river. Helicopters flew a shuttle service between the battlefield and Jerusalem hospitals.

Before the assault on Karamah, transport planes had dropped leaflets on the area's refugee camp, housing 3,000 persons, warning of the attacks.

At the fighting's height, spokesmen said, paratroopers pressed to within 25 miles of Amman, Jordan's capital, before turning back.

The Israeli command claimed killing at least 150 of the 1,000 El Fatah members it estimates are active in Jordan and said heavy casualties were inflicted on King Hussein's Arab Legion. A spokesman in Amman listed Jordanian casualties as "very minor."

Israel said the attack cost it 15 dead and 70 wounded. It acknowledged the loss of six armored vehicles and one plane to Jordanian ground fire. The pilot bailed out safely behind his own lines, a spokesman said.

This was countered by Jordan's claim of 200 Israeli dead, 42 tanks and armored cars destroyed and three French-made Mystere jets shot down.

Jordan had warned at the United Nations that this week a "major attack" was coming, after Israel threatened retaliation for a series of terrorist raids that have killed nine and injured 50 since Feb. 15.

Allies Seeking To Seize Initiative

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces are sweeping through hills, plans and jungles in six wide-spread operations designed to seize the initiative from the enemy and so far 1,888 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been killed, the U.S. Command disclosed Thursday.

The command lifted the veil of secrecy from five new drives ranging from near Saigon to the coastal plains 300 miles to the northeast. Some were begun two months ago when the enemy still was on the rampage in the Tet—lunar new year—offensive.

The five operations, which have cost the United States 94 dead and 397 wounded, are as follows from north to south:

—On the Beng Son coastal plain, 300 miles northeast of Saigon, where the 22nd North Vietnamese Regiment has been operating. The U.S. 4th Infantry Division kicked off this one Feb. 29 and so far has killed 193 North Vietnamese, the second highest enemy total in the five operations.

—Around An Khe, big U.S. military base in the central highlands. The 173rd Airborne Brigade launched this one Jan. 17 while the enemy offensive was at its height but it has found and fought few enemy soldiers.

—North of the coastal provincial capital of Phan Thiet, overrun by the Viet Cong. Phan Thiet is 100 miles east of Saigon. The 101st Airborne Division went over to the attack 17 miles northeast of Phan Thiet Jan. 20 and has rolled up the biggest enemy toll of the five drives, 475 Viet Cong killed, but most died during the Tet offensive.

—Near headquarters of the U.S. 1st Infantry and 101st Airborne division 29 miles northeast of Saigon. The 101st took the offensive five days ago and so far have killed 81 of the enemy.

—Around the Bien Hoa-Long Binh headquarters of the U.S. Army in Vietnam 15 miles northeast of Saigon. The 199th Light Infantry Brigade and the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment began this drive two weeks ago but have run into little opposition.

None of the five operations had been disclosed previously, for security reasons. The fact that relatively few of the enemy have been killed tended to support some military reports that major enemy units, mauled in the Tet offensive, have withdrawn to remote base camps for refitting and reinforcing.

The purpose of all the drives is the same: to lift the enemy threat to important cities and bases and to regain the initiative.

MSD Tag Day Drive Begins on Saturday

E. Glenn Lewis, president of the local chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, announced Wednesday that the local tag day drive will be held March 23, Saturday, to raise funds to provide seat belts for wheel chair victims.

Future nurses from Sacred Heart and Smith-Cotton will participate in the drive along with several Sedalia area Girl Scout troops.

A donation from the Chrysler Motor Co., made many seat belts possible but additional funds are still needed, according to the association.

The Merchants' Curse

Stealing goods on display in a store is called shoplifting. Another way of expressing it is, to buy a nickel's worth of chewing gum and steal a box of candy; or, in olden days, buy a dime's worth of tobacco and steal a sack of flour.

Some persons indulge in this activity for personal gain or need, others for kicks, and a lesser number because they are afflicted with an irresistible impulse to steal. The latter are called kleptomaniacs.

There are also organized groups skilled in the mechanics of shoplifting expensive and bulky items of merchandise such as clothing. They seem to ply their nefarious trade without as much detection as those who pilfer petty items.

Every merchant in Sedalia has suffered economic loss from the activities of these individuals. Moreover, they are required to maintain constant vigilance to deter the pilferers and also put up with the irritations that necessarily follow in bringing the violators to the courts for punishment.

Shoplifting is no minor affair in store business today. In fact, Life magazine recently revealed that one nationwide discount store chain was driven into bankruptcy by shoplifters.

—O—

But consider another aspect of store owners' problems. Theft by employees. Thirty per cent of all business failures are attributed to them, according to Fireman's Insurance Co. At least 25 million larcenies will be committed in the United States this year, says Paul D. Astor, president of an outfit that plants agents inside companies to detect employee pilferage.

This condition may be more general than the public is aware of. Why, even bartenders are now threatened with surveillance. Recently a new electronic device has been invented to keep tabs on these dispensers of the joy juice.

According to Science Service, this gadget fits on a special pouring spout and signals whenever the bottle is tilted. A receiver in the manager's office records the number of drinks poured. Not only that, but each price category of liquor is transmitted on a separate frequency, allowing automatic accounting.

But as usual for every action there is counteraction, and you can bet your boots some bartender is going to come up with a jamming device that can be worn in a ring.

Kennedy Heat Sears Party Bigwigs

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Bobby Kennedy is really pouring on the heat. Democratic leaders all over the United States are getting phone calls, and in some cases personal visits, either from Bobby himself, his brother-in-law Stephen Smith, or other members of the Kennedy household.

Those contacted have ranged from Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri to Gov. Harold Hughes of Iowa to the local leaders of Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau, the Bronx, and Tammany Hall in Manhattan. It's in these areas of New York where the pressure is being applied most ruthlessly. It resembles the tactics of the John F. Kennedy campaign when he was hellbent to get the nomination from Hubert Humphrey, and his campaign manager, Bobby, stopped at nothing to secure it for him.

Stanley Steingut, Democratic leader of Brooklyn, hitherto a Johnson man, has been pressured to switch to Kennedy. Steingut is obsessed with an ambition to become speaker of the New York Assembly, and Bobby could knock that ambition if Steingut doesn't switch. You can write it down that Steingut will switch.

Henry McDonough, leader of the Bronx and successor to Charley Buckley, also is being told to move over into the Kennedy camp, as is Frank Rossetti, head of Tammany Hall. Bobby was opposed to Rossetti's getting the Tammany job in the first place. Rossetti says he is torn over his loyalty to Johnson. However, the power of the Kennedy clan to punish or reward is considerable and Rossetti is wavering.

Moe Weinstein, leader of Queens, also has ambitions to be speaker of the New York Assembly, but is not so obsessed as Steingut. The Kennedys are trying to brainwash him but so far he hasn't yielded.

If Bobby does not get these heavily populated counties around New York City, where the big blocks of delegates are, he won't control the New York delegation, and he's really pouring on the heat.

For Kennedy are William Luddy of Westchester County and Joseph Crangle of Erie County, as well as Democratic State Chairman John Burns, who faces a move to unseat him as chairman inasmuch as his announcement for Kennedy ran directly counter to the official resolution of the Democratic State Committee for Johnson. Rep. Joe Resnick has just written Burns a letter telling him to choose between being Democratic chairman or heading Bobby's drive for President.

Last weekend Jack English, young Democratic leader of Nassau County, called his county aides together and told them they were to be for Kennedy

Research in Needy Nations
Best Aid U.S. Could Give

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

LAHORE, PAKISTAN (NEA)

If Pakistan is any example, the most valuable foreign aid may consist of inexpensive research.

The striking lesson here is that very small amounts of imaginative, private technical assistance can be as great in over-all effect as hundreds of millions of dollars in direct gifts or loans.

Pakistan economists estimate that within the next few years this country will earn an additional $200 million a year, and thus save that much in scarce foreign exchange, through the use of new types of wheat and rice from Mexico and the Philippines.

The wheat, called Mexi-Pak, is a modification of a wheat developed by Rockefeller aid in Mexico.

The rice, called IRI-8, is a variety developed with Ford and Rockefeller funds in the Philippine Islands.

These new types produce from two to four times the crop per acre as traditional Pakistan wheat and rice.

Within a decade, these new varieties may enable Pakistan to be a major food exporter. If this proves out, economists estimate her foreign exchange savings, plus export earnings from these two food crops, may add up to $300 million to $400 million a year.

This is only the beginning. U.S. research has developed a high-yield maize (corn), now being modified to meet Pakistan requirements.

New research in Pakistan gives promise of multiplying the amount of jute per acre.

A tree grown in the Philippines and now being introduced into Pakistan promises to be a cheap source of pulp.

Relatively small amounts of technical aid have made possible the drilling of thousands of small wells in Pakistan. These produce water in dry areas and reduce the crop-ruining salt content of the soil in other regions.

There is a strong feeling among some men experienced in aid that countries the United States is helping would profit greatly if more of American aid were devoted to joint research projects in local universities, research laboratories and agricultural institutes.

The direct application of foreign technology to developing countries is often wasteful and unsound technically. More original local research is needed. More research is also required in the adaptation of foreign technical know-how to the local situation.

This is not to suggest that research and technical aid would be a complete substitute for other dollar assistance. The new Pakistan wheat and rice, for example, increase the need for fertilizer. Major areas of Pakistan require more water than can be supplied by wells alone. Countries short of foreign exchange frequently require loans to enable them to buy machinery and raw materials abroad.

But the purpose of this column is to suggest that more of our present aid could profitably be channeled into the development of local and joint research.

White House Test Proven a Failure

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House trial balloon of a $9 billion budget cut never soared very high in the estimation of congressional leaders demanding deeper reductions as the price of a tax increase.

And now it seems to have fallen flat. No specific reductions have been sent to Capitol Hill, formally or informally, and the indications are that none will be ready for some time.

Congressional economizers are showing irritation. Some are suggesting that the $9 billion reduction talk last weekend by high administration sources was really intended more for the ears of the international monetary authorities meeting to stem the gold rush than for consideration by Congress.

A genuine fear that speculators against the dollar might win gave a strong impetus last week to the lagging discussions between the executive and legislative branches of an economy-tax combination to reduce the prospective $20 billion deficit and bolster the U.S. international financial position. The momentum has slackened since then.

There was a point at which key congressmen were talking of an even steeper increase than the 10 per cent income tax surcharge Johnson is asking. Some suggested restoring the regular income-tax bracket rates, except in the lowest brackets, as they were before the massive 1964 tax reduction instead of merely adding a surcharge.

Such a rollback would yield an estimated $14 billion increase in revenues instead of the $10 billion plus which the surcharge is supposed to bring in.

But the asking price was a budget reduction in the range of $15 billion — meaning an actual spending cut of about $6 billion — instead of the $9 billion budget trim that would mean about $4 billion in actual spending.

There was no meeting of minds on an economy move of these dimensions.

It would require dropping, postponing indefinitely or at least drastically scaling down some whole domestic programs.

This is exactly the course some economizers are advocating. They say the built-in expansion of these programs over the next five years or more will cost more than the present revenue structure can provide — even if the economy maintains a healthy growth.

As the dialogue between the executive and the legislative branches falters, conferences within Congress on the possibility of a legislatively dictated cutdown on domestic spending continue. These now cross party lines, bringing in Republican leaders as well as the economy-minded Democratic chairmen of the taxing and spending committees. If they agree, the administration may find itself fighting budget cuts it had no hand in preparing.

A development which can have given the administration no comfort was a speech by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, one of the five Ways and Means Committee members who tried in vain to keep the surcharge proposal alive last September when the committee shelved it.

But Vanik told the House Wednesday he cannot support a tax increase to escalate the Vietnam war, nor approve further cutbacks in programs to cope with urban crises.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Daily Use of Laxatives Is Harmful, Not Helpful

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Readers who are or who believe they are constipated and who are dosing themselves with various laxatives secretly suspect that they are doing themselves no good. Many of them write to me asking about the harmful effects of this or that laxative. The greatest danger with all such drugs is irritation of the delicate lining of the intestines and setting up a chronic colitis.

The laxative habit thrives on the twin misconceptions that if you go for more than 24 hours without a stool you are constipated and that if you are constipated you are in big trouble. Most people, after taking a laxative, over-empt the bowel and are physiologically entitled to miss a day. If they take a laxative under such circumstances, they again over-empt the bowel and the result can best be described not as constipation, but as a cathartic diarrhea.

To the reader who inquired about the daily use of castor oil, I can only say that this harsh purgative is one of the most irritating. I would not recommend it for a sick dog and I doubt that any doctor would recommend its daily use. Milk of magnesia, senna and Senokot (a senna preparation) are not as irritating as castor oil but, if they are taken daily, the end result will be the same.

Other readers have inquired about bran bread and bran cereals. I would rigidly avoid all such products if they contain the coarse identifiable flakes of pure bran because bran in this form is also a bowel irritant. The use of products made with finely ground bran flour is less hazardous but, as is the case with vegetables and fruit (the natural laxatives), the amount of bran eaten must be carefully adjusted to allow the stools to be firm and well-formed.

Some readers show a preference for enemas. These, too, should not be used routinely and when used should not contain more than eight ounces of plain warm water. Larger enemas tend to over-empt the bowel, and soap or other additives are irritating and unnecessary. The secret of success in the use of a small, plain water enema is to hold it at least five minutes before passing it. Don't take an enema unless you have gone 48 hours without a bowel movement (72 hours if the last stool was loose or watery).

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — Can you exclude more than $100 in dividends from taxes if you file a joint return?

A — On joint returns, each taxpayer may exclude up to $100 in dividends received on stock he and she owns either jointly or individually. Therefore a maximum of $200 may be excluded in these circumstances.

If all the dividends are received entirely by either the husband or wife, then the dividend exclusion is $100 even on a joint return.

Q — Are the dividends on GI life insurance taxable?

A — No, they are not. Dividends on other insurance policies are not taxable either when they represent a return of premiums paid.

Hers Is a Short Cut For Sewing a Garment

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is a great help for sewing the various parts of a hand-knitted garment together without having to first block each piece. As I finish one piece, such as the back, front, a sleeve, etc., I wind it loosely onto an empty tube, such as comes from waxed paper. Do this in the opposite direction from the way the edges want to curl and keep it flat by securing the edges with an elastic band. When I am ready to put the sweater together I remove all pieces from the rollers and find they lay flat and even just as though they had been blocked. After sewing together I do not feel it is necessary to block sweaters because they look as if it had already been done.—ELEANOR

OBITUARIES

Olevia DeJarnette

Mrs. Olevia DeJarnette, 63, 401 North Prospect, died at the Bothwell Hospital at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. She had been a patient at the hospital since Feb. 5.

Mrs. DeJarnette was born near Mack's Creek, Mo., Sept. 10, 1904, the daughter of the late Thomas W. and Della Hart Griffith. She had lived most of her life in Sedalia, coming here in 1912. She attended the High Point and Horace Mann schools.

In January, 1920, she was married to John A. Detmer.

Mrs. DeJarnette was preceded in death by one son, three brothers and one sister.

She was married at Pueblo, Colo., Sept. 10, 1948, to Charles A. DeJarnette.

Mrs. DeJarnette was a member of the Broadway Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by her husband, Charles A. DeJarnette; one sister, Mrs. Mamie Cramer, 1711½ West 10th; four brothers, Othel Griffith, Smithton; Loren Griffith, 643 East 11th; Murrell Griffith, 32nd and Grand Avenue; Sterling Griffith, Route 1; one step-daughter, Mrs. Winifred Lewis, Phoenix, Ariz.; and one step-son, Charles DeJarnette, Jr., Syracuse.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Saturday with Dr. Garner Odell, pastor of Broadway Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

The family prefers that contributions be made to the Cancer Fund instead of sending flowers.

"I shall, in the months ahead, make known—in quiet party councils and in occasional public forums—my own positions on major national and international issues. This must include, of course, the ordeal of Vietnam and the quest for peace."

Asked to outline his views on Vietnam, the governor said:

"My position on Vietnam is very simple. I haven't spoken on it because I haven't felt that there was any major contribution that I had to make. I think that our concepts as a nation and that our actions have not kept pace with the changing conditions. And therefore our actions are not completely relevant today to the realities of the magnitude and the complexity of the problems that we face."

He declined to discuss the question of whether the bombing of North Vietnam should be stopped.

The governor declined to pinpoint the hour when he decided not to challenge Nixon for the nomination. However, a highly placed source said, as of 10 a.m. today, "Only three or four people know what he was going to announce."

It had been widely believed that Rockefeller would declare himself a candidate and campaign in the Oregon primary.

Political analysts thought he would step into the breach left when Rockefeller's own candidate, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, withdrew from the race shortly before the New Hampshire primary, March 12.

Consequently, GOP chiefs in other states expressed surprise. One was Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, who is considered a potential contender for the nomination, although he says he is not one.

Reagan told a crowded news conference in his office that Rockefeller's action does not change his position.

Reagan added that he believes the delegates at the Republican National Convention will decide the nominee, not the results of the primary elections.

Gov. Paul Laxalt of Nevada said Rockefeller's decision to withdraw might not be accepted by his supporters around the country. "A big unanswered question now will be whether or not this will stop the draft movement," Laxalt said.

Rockefeller made "a very statesmanlike approach," Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana commented, "he realized that Richard Nixon has the major support of the Republican party."

Contracts Not For 12-Mile District

Accidents

The 600 block of South Osage was the scene of a two-car accident at 5:01 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1966 Chevrolet, driven west on Sixth by Quincy Allen Rehmer, 39, 1901 South Stewart, and a supposedly parked 1967 Chevrolet, driven by Carol June Joquel, 26, 2505 South Woodlawn.

According to police, the Joquel auto had been parked in a private parking and it apparently rolled into the street.

No injuries were reported in a two-car accident at Tenth and Massachusetts at 5:13 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1966 Pontiac, driven south on Massachusetts by Arvil W. Buchanan, 46, 637 East 15th, and a 1967 Plymouth, driven east on Tenth by Ronald L. Fennell, 22, 601 East Tenth.

Damage was to the right side of the Pontiac and the front of the Plymouth.

All Commodities Advance On Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly all commodity prices advanced Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade, and wheat futures brought to an end four straight days of lower prices.

The trade was aware of the renewed Middle East tension and of the attack on gold at some European market places, but it appeared that these factors could not immediately be truly evaluated.

Accidents

A truck-car accident occurred at 8:39 a.m. Thursday in the 100 block of South Osage involving a truck driven by Richard Linebarger, Springdale, Ark., and a parked car owned by Walter C. Cramer, 109 East Second.

According to the police report the accident occurred as the truck was being backed up after it had been pulled out of an alley. As it was being backed up the bumper apparently struck the left rear side of the car.

The truck was damaged on the right front.

Three persons were injured in a two-car accident on Highway 65 about two tenths of a mile south of the junction of 65 and Route P at 4:40 p.m. Wednesday.

According to the Highway Patrol, a 1954 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven north on Highway 65 by Jewell Leonard Jackson, 64, 200 South Washington, collided with a 1968 Pontiac, driven south by Joe Rollins, 56, Owatonna, Minn. According to the patrol, the truck was apparently on the wrong side of the road and the two vehicles collided head on.

Jackson was taken to Bothwell Hospital where he was admitted. He sustained facial fractures, a rib fracture and a dislocated hip.

Rollins and his wife, Marjorie Rollins, were taken to Bothwell Hospital where they were given emergency treatment. Rollins sustained facial and chest fractures. His wife sustained a fractured jawbone and facial lacerations. They were transferred to Boone County Hospital in Columbia.

Trooper John M. Cummings of the Missouri State Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

County Court

Charlotte Colbert was granted a divorce from Joseph Colbert in Circuit Court Thursday. George H. Miller was the attorney for the plaintiff.

Gregory Stephen Farrell was charged with burglary and second degree stealing before Magistrate Judge Frank T. Armstrong in a state complaint presented by prosecuting attorney Henry A. Keeler in Circuit Court Thursday.

The charges stemmed from a break-in at Welch's Market, 410 South Barrett, on March 6, 1968, when $29.70 worth of cigarettes were reported stolen from the store.

A $2,500 appearance bond was set for Farrell. William F. Brown is Farrell's attorney.

Sheriff's Report

Tommy Oliver, 17, 1109 East 10th, was placed in the Pettis County jail, about 8 p.m. Wednesday night for investigation of parole violation and being intoxicated on jail property. Oliver was under parole on a two-year sentence for arson since February 21, this year.

According to Sheriff Emmet Fairfax, Oliver appeared before Judge Frank Hayes Thursday and Hayes revoked Oliver's parole. Oliver was turned over to the custody of the Sheriff's Department and is to be turned over to the State Department of Corrections at Jefferson City where he will serve his two-year term for arson.

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax reported Oliver, who apparently had been drinking, was noticed climbing over a back fence at the jail by Mrs. Virgil Morris, wife of Deputy Sheriff Virgil Morris, the jailer. He said Mrs. Morris notified her husband, who went out through the kitchen, circled the jail and found Oliver next to the building, inside the fenced jail compound. Oliver was first noticed from an upstairs window. Morris called to Oliver and when he started to try and run east and climb a fence, fired one shot in the air, Fairfax reported.

Oliver stopped and was taken inside the county jail.

In the meantime, a call to the police by a business man nearby summoned Lt. Jewell Riley and Deputy Sheriff Orval Lewis who were at police headquarters. They went to the jail to investigate. The caller had thought someone had been shot when he heard the report of the gun.

In February, Oliver was sentenced to two years in prison for arson and immediately placed on parole, according to Sheriff Fairfax.

Police Report

Darnell's Service Station, 1801 West Broadway, reported to Sedalia police at 8:20 p.m.

Aaron Haller Creator Of Feedback Device

Aaron W. Haller, owner of the Haller's Office Equipment Co., 114 East Fifth, has invented and applied for a patent for a device known as "Auto-Feedback" which can be used to make multiple copies without the operator reinserting the original for each copy.

This multiple copy device is simple, inexpensive and efficient, and can be installed in a matter of minutes on the Ditto Machines by Bell and Howell and the Universal Electro-Static Copiers.

The device is already in production in Chicago and shipment will start soon. By the first of the month the products will be sent to Sedalia where they will be boxed at the Sheltered Workshop. Haller has already received the boxes into which the young people will put the "Auto-Feedbacks" and prepare them for mailing.

Within three weeks time after Haller sent out letters on his new device he has received orders from 31 dealers in a coverage of 22 states. This low cost multiple device will retail for $22.95.

Haller invented the device, which he had named Auto-Feedback, on Oct. 10, 1966, after he got the idea for it, but it has taken this long to arrange for the production of it.

Seat Belts For Wheel Chairs Are Available

The Chrysler Corporation has made available seat belts for the wheelchairs of all patients suffering from muscular dystrophy or a related crippling disorder according to an announcement made by Mrs. David H. Robinson, patient service committee chairman of the Mid-Mizzou Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America.

"We're very grateful to Chrysler," Mrs. Robinson said, "for this very generous contribution to the welfare of the patients we serve, and I know they, and their families as well, share our gratitude." Mrs. Robinson pointed out that when a wheelchair hits a bump or other obstruction, the occupant may be thrown forward. She stated a seat belt protects patients from the very real hazards of being pitched out of the chair altogether. While the seat belts provided by Chrysler were designed for use in cars, they can readily be adapted for attachment to wheelchairs.

E. Glenn Lewis, president of the local chapter announces a tag day will be held on Saturday March 23 to raise additional funds for Muscular Dystrophy. Future Nurses from Sacred Heart and Smith-Cotton High Schools will assist along with several Girl Scout troops.

Borrows Trick Of Packers

NEW YORK (AP) — Donale Dell, the new U.S. Davis Cup captain, intends to steal a trick from football's champion Green Bay Packers in his efforts to win back the big tennis trophy. "Coach Vince Lombardi of the Packers has a strategy I like he believes in concentrating on the other team's strength instead of its weakness," Dell said. "That will be our watch word this year."

Dell, 29-year-old Washington, D.C., attorney out of Yale University, was given the captain's post Thursday, succeeding George MacCall of Los Angeles, who has taken over one of the pro tours.

The appointment was announced at a press conference by Bob Kelleher, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association who was the last captain to succeed in winning the cup for America. He brought the trophy back from Australia in 1963, only to lose it the next year.

Dell, an international player who ranked fifth nationally in 1961 and was a member of the U.S. team that year, immediately warned prospective candidates they were in for no gravy train.

"No one can be sure of his job from one match to the next," the captain said. "I want players who are eager, interested and hungry."

Wednesday that a cash box valued at $7.50 and $12.50 in cash was stolen from a soda machine.

Magistrate Court

The preliminary hearing for James Fischer, charged in a state complaint with second degree burglary in connection with the alleged burglary of the Lloyd Arnett farm, March 7, 1967, was set Wednesday for Monday by Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong.

Fischer was released on a continued bond of $2,500.

Rocky Will State His Intentions

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York makes his long-awaited announcement today as to whether he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, challenging the front-runner, Richard M. Nixon.

The consensus among political observers here is that he will run.

At the eleventh hour, however, a top Rockefeller aide reported, "There is still a deep division in our own ranks" about the advisability of having the governor get in the race.

And in Washington Tuesday, when Rockefeller was asked about doubts that he might run, he replied: "Yes, there is reason for that." He did not elaborate.

On the other hand, some senators who attended the meeting with Rockefeller came away with the impression that he has decided to fight it out with Nixon. One source said, "All the indicators were positive, none negative."

Rockefeller is scheduled to announce his decision at a press conference in New York City at 2 p.m. EST today.
